Panel Hears Testimony

Decision Due In 2 Weeks On Probe Of City Schools

SCHOOL STUDY TEAM. Notes on testimony given in a current study of the East Liverpool school controversy are checked by three members of the educator team, Robert Dowling of Alliance, seated and Helen Kovach of Fairport Harbor and William Quinn of Canton.

A decision on whether a full-scale investigation will be made into the East Liverpool school faculty controversy is expected within two weeks.

Robert Dowling of Alliance, former president of the Ohio Education Association and chairman of a panel conducting a preliminary investigation said this morning, "We are in East Liverpool hearing testimony of the East Liverpool Teachers Association. We represent the Professional Rights and Responsibilities Commission of the Ohio Education Association.

"Our purpose in East Liverpool is to study the school situation and advise the entire PRR Commission as to the advisability of a full-scale study.

"We will present our advice to that commission, and anticipate their decision within the next two weeks."

DOWLING is assisted by William Quinn, elementary principal at Canton, and Helen Kovach, a Fairport Harbor teacher. Wayne A. Whyte, Lorain County school superintendent, the fourth member expected, was unable to come to East Liverpool, a victim of the flu.

Also here with the panel are Rose Mary Studor, manager of Broadcast Services for the OEA and a member of the public information division, and B. I.

Would Repeal 'Right To Work'

House Democrats Launch War On Taft-Hartley Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, with virtually a zero batting average on labor legislation last year, have opened a two-pronged attack aimed at repealing the most controversial section of the Taft-Hartley law.

The two bills are among four significant labor law proposals introduced by Democrats since the new Congress convened Jan. 3.

One bill would repeal Taft-Hartley's section 14B which allows states to pass so-called "right-to-work" laws barring union membership as a condition of employment.

Repeal was tried in the 89th Congress, but failed after a bruising fight.

The other measure would amend section 14B wtih the ultimate effect of repealing it.

Two other bills would make it easier for farm workers to organize and would remove restrictions on construction workers from staging a type of secondary boycott.

It is too early to predict how much push will be given the labor measures, particularly those attacking 14B. The last battle on that issue opened wounds that have yet to heal.

"Whatever is done to promote it will depend largely on what Meany & Co. do," said an informed source. "Aanl they haven't, as far as I know, come up with any decisions."

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, made repeal of 14B his major goal in 1965, and a bill passed the House. It was killed in the Senate early in 1966 by filibuster.

Meany reportedly agreed not

'Living Grave' Described

Kidnapers 'Briefed' Girl On Survival In Her Coffin

MIAMI (AP) — A U. S. commissioner was told of a girl being buried alive with instructions on how to bail out her coffin, then ruled there was probable cause to believe Gary Krist kidnaped Barbara Mackle and put her in the living grave.

Krist, 23, an escaped convict, sat slumped over during the Friday hearing, his bearded chin on his chest and his eyes averted from witnesses as they told how Barbara was buried on a Georgia hillside after being kidnaped Dec. 17.

FBI agent Joseph St. Pierre said Miss Mackle described the ordeal from her hospital bed after being freed from the box where she spent 83 hours.

"They told her there was a pump operated on a battery that would bail out her capsule if water seeped in," St. Pierre testified at the hearing in the chapel of Dade County Jail.

"Barbara said the kidnaper she knew as George told her he'd tested the capsule himself in the same spot and it worked perfectly," the agent said. When shown pictures of Krist, St. Pierre continued Barbara said, "That's him! That's the man!"

"He told her the battery would last a week unless she used the light too much in which case it would burn out in five days," St. Pierre said. "He told her not to use the pump unless the box sprang a leak. She started it twice because he said if she started the pump it would trigger an alarm in a nearby

2nd Miner Claimed As Slate Falls In Sun Coal Co. Shaft

Investigations continued today into the deaths of two coal miners killed Friday when a large section of slate fell on them in a mine in the Bergholz area.

Dead are Ross D. Hogue, 61, of Maple Hill, Salineville, and Douglass Bennett, 56, of Amsterdam.

The two men along with Bobby McCort, 26, of Irondale RD 1 were inside the Sun Coal Co. mine, not far from the entrance, when the large piece of slate fell on them.

McCort was in "fair" condition today at St. John's Hospital at Steubenville with a possible fractured ankle and a sprained back.

McCort was reported unconscious when fellow workers arrived at the site, but was revived by another man with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Lloyd Walters of Amsterdam, the foreman, said a piece of slate 8 feet wide, 20 feet long and about three inches thick fell on the three miners.

A representative of the Ohio Bureau of Mines and two men from the U.S. Bureau of Mines arrived within hours of the accident which occurred about 11 a.m. yesterday.

Services will be held Monday for the two victims.

Mr. Hogue was born May 4, 1907, at Salineville, a son of the late William and Phila Baker Hogue.

He was a member of the Assembly of God Church.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Hazel Hogue at home; two daughters, Mrs. Vivian Fryman of Salem and Miss Norma Hogue of East Liverpool, a nurse at City Hospital; two sons, Gary Hogue and Larry Hogue, both at home; a sister, Mrs. Hazel Edwards of Lisbon; a brother, Wade Hogue of Hubbard, and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Kerr Funeral Home of Salineville with Rev. Daniel Barth of the church officiating. Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight and Sunday at the funeral home.

Mr. Bennett is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lula Goodman Bennett at home; two daughters, Mrs. George (Wanetta) Toricco of Beckley, W. Va., and Mrs. Vernon (Carolyn) Kick of Waynesburg; two stepsons, John Dillon and Paul Dillon of Columbus, and two brothers, Howard Bennett of Malvern and Paul Bennett of Stanford, W.Va.

Services will be held Monday at 1:30 p. m. at the Sweeney Funeral Home of Amsterdam by the Rev. Phillip Gilis. Burial will be in Malvern Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight and Sunday at the funeral home.

New York Holds 'Love-In' In Welcoming Astronauts

NEW YORK (AP) — A formal state dinner turned into a "love-in" Friday night as New Yorkers poured affection on the nation's most heroic voyagers —Astronauts Borman, Lovell and Anders.

Security guards in the Waldorf-Astoria grand ballroom were powerless to hold back the swell of hundreds of formally attired guests seeking autographs from the men who were first to circle the moon.

For nearly an hour, the guests took pictures, and handed dinner menus up over the dais to the astronauts who obtiged their admirerers as rapidly as they could.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller pleaded with his guests:

"Ladies and gentlemen, this started out as a state dinner and is ending up a love-in. Will you please take your seats!"

Astronaut James A Lovell Jr., a Navy captain, later told the guests he would leave the dinner "slightly incapacitated. With my left hand I will not be able to write. With my right hand I will not be able to shake hands."

The rapport in the ballroom broadened as the astronauts answered questions posed by the guests at the invitation of the governor.

"General Borman," led off one guest, "do you believe the moon is worth investing in?"

To be sure Air Force Col. Frank Borman did. "In the quest for knowledge, using the moon as a goal, I feel it is like life insurance— it's mandatory."

On the subject of how the astronauts kept from floating around their spaceship like their toothbrushes, Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders told the crowd how "man and zero gravity seemed to go well together.

His teammate, Lovell, was more down to earth. "We hung on," he said.

Lovell promised that "somehow, somewhere, some way," women, too would soar into space — "and we're going to Mars for more than 440 days."

The women who waited on earth for their men as they orbited the moon on Christmas Eve scarcely took their eyes off them during the evening.

For their "courage, determination, and love . . . an inspiration to all of us," Gov. Rockefeller had a little surprise.

Susan Borman's eyes grew large and her hand rose to her mouth as the governor presented her, Marilyn Lovell and Valerie Anders each with a stunning Steuben crystal semicircular disc, depicting the heavens and earth as seen from the moon's serface.

"That is so beautiful!" she said, shaking her head.

For everyone, it had been an emotion-packed and poignant evening, capping a day of tribute by the city and state to the astronauts — including a big ticker tape parade and a United Nations' welcome.

Mrs. Lovell offered her thanks, "Please understand when I say, this is a small, warm town. This is not a big city."

At Nixon's Request

Ray Bliss Will Continue As Republican Chairman

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Nixon has settled for the forseeable future an internal debate over the leadership of the Republican National Committee by asking Ray C. Bliss to remain its chairman.

No specific period was disclosed and Bliss would not discuss the question of how long he might continue. But a key political aide to the President-elect says Nixon's request means Bliss will remain in the party post for "a substantial period" unless he decides to leave.

Nixon is known to have considered replacing Bliss with a chairman more talented in public political salesmanship.

Some men among Nixon's circle of advisers had advocated this course.

A possible compromise also had been considered, that of assigning a new party spokesman to work with Bliss at the national committee. One man who had been under consideration for that role was Bud Wilkinson, the television sportscaster who has been named a special White House consultant.

But that idea is now said to have been dropped.

Bliss, 61, has been chairman since April 1, 1965. His field is organization politics—the technical side—and he shuns the public speaking, banquet circuit approach.

His constituency is among organization Republicans, state and national committeemen, for example, and their support is believed to have been a factor in the decision to have him remain.

Bliss spent about two hours with Nixon Friday. "He expressed complete satisfaction with the job being done by me as Republican national chairman," Bliss said.

In the view of some Nixon associates, the retention of Bliss means that activities by the Republican senatorial and congressional campaign committees

Israelis Rip Arab Area In Latest Raids

TEL AVIV (AP) —Israeli warplanes flashed low across the Jordan River cease-fire line today to pound Arab commando positions following an attack on an Israeli army vehicle.

Observers on the Israeli side of the border reported seeing flames and smoke from the abandoned Arab village of Ktes, just across the border.

The action took place near Kibbutz Gesher, six miles south of the Jordan River in the embattled Jordan valley.

It was the first time Israel had called in planes to hit Arab attackers since Jan. 2.

Israeli sources claim the use of airplanes to hit guerrillas lying in ambush just across the border has proven highly successful since its inauguration several weeks ago.

Youth, 16, Seeks Office

BELLINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — Todd R. Hennessy, 16, has filed nominating papers to run for town park commissioner in the March election.

"I can see nothing illegal in the youth's seeking the elective office," said Lee Ambler, the town counsel. "But I can't overlook the possibility that if he is elected any legal contract entered into by the park commissioner would be void because he is a juvenile."

Todd is a junior in Mount St. Charles Academy, where he has a top scholastic record.

His mother, Marie, 36, is running for tax collector.

U.S. Squad Overrun By Cong In Delta

SAIGON (AP)—An American squad sent out to ambush the Viet Cong in the Mekong Delta was overrun early today and all 11 men were killed or wounded.

The squad numbered nine GIs and two Tiger Scouts, former Viet Cong who had defected. A spokesman said six Americans and one of the scouts were killed, and the others were wounded.

The squad, of the 3rd Brigade, 9th Infantry Division, managed to radio a distress call from the area 30 miles southwest of Saigon, but reinforcements arrived too late to catch the enemy.

It was one of numerous small skirmishes across the country. Military authorities also reported enemy gunners shelled 28 airfields, army camps and district towns in the heaviest wave of overnight attacks since the Nov. 1 bombing halt.

house and let them know she was in trouble but they never came."

"She is quite safe if somewhat uncomfortable" the note began. "Barbara is presently inside a small capsule buried in a remote piece of soil. She has enough food and water to last seven days. At the end of the seven days the life supporting batteries will be discharged and her air supply will be cut off."

A ransom of $500,000 in used $20 bills would buy the "address" of the box. If the money were not paid "we will simply not say anything to anyone and Barbara will suffocate."

"Should you catch all of us we will never admit anything as to do so would be suicide and again — she will die," the note said.

The note ordered Mackle, holder of $16 million in stock in the family's Deltona Corp., to dress all in white and deliver the ransom himself. "Any deviation will result in his death. The messenger will have him in his sights," the note said.

FBI Inspector Rex Shroder of Washington, sent to supervise the investigation, said Krist had $140 in $20s with seria numbers matching the Mackle money when captured on alligator-infested Hog Island Dec. 22.

Swan set permanent bond of $500,000 for Krist and bound him over to the grand jury on charges of extortion by mail, extortion by telephone and interstate travel in aid of racketeering. Federal kidnap charges were dismissed because the Emory University coed never was taken across a state line.

Red Boss Aims Blast Against Czech Press

PRAGUE (AP) — Slovak Communist party boss Gustav Husak, often critized for being too friendly with Czechoslovakia's Soviet occupiers, celebrated his 56th birthday Friday night with a slashing attack on the nation's press and "disrupting forces in our country."

It came while his public standing was at a particularly low ebb. Many feel Husak has been a prime mover in the party campaign to demote National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky, a liberal leader too popular for the Kremlin's liking.

SAIGON NUNS whiz through the South Vietnamese capital on a motor bike, the city's most popular means of transportation.

Midland Mothers Name Committee

Four were named to a nominating committee to report at the March meeting when the Midland Mothers Athletic Association met Thursday at the high school.

Mrs. Lester Barr, Mrs. John Brozic, Mrs. Willie Burks and Mrs. William Love were named by Mrs. Norman Vanlier, president.

Mrs. Brozic is chairman of the treats for members of the basketball team and cheerleaders at the games.

Tentative plans were made for an all sports banquet to be held in the spring.

Mrs. Vanlier said senior members of the football team have received their "emblems" for being the Class B champs. Prayer was led by Mrs. Samuel Taylor. The next meeting will be Feb. 6.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Electronics and mechanics had become such intregal parts of daily life by 1922 that they had an impact on the arts. In that year George Antheil composed "Ballet Mecanique," America's first symphonic music scored for whirling airplane propellers, electric bells and player pianos. Hissed at its first hearing in Paris, the piece was accepted, if not acclaimed, in New York by 1954.

Dowling said the group expects to interview at least 20 persons. The board of education was invited to meet with them this morning, and all principles in the controversy are expected to be interviewed.

The panel will be in East Liverpool until they have met with all who are scheduled to appear but Dowling said the team hopes to be completed in time for "the Columbus people to get home before midnight."

Dowling said the report "may or may not be made public, it depends on what decision is reached by the PRR commission."

THE ELTA asked the PRR commission to conduct an investigation because the teachers group believed the study requested earlier by the board of education would be heavily "administration oriented."

The first study was conducted by Harold Sebold, executive secretary of the Ohio School Administrators Association; Harold Meyers, associate director of the Ohio High School Athletic Association; Robert Baker, legal counsel of the Ohio School Boards Association, and Gilbert Johnson, superintendent of the Whitehall City Schools.

This group made seven recommendations to the administration and board of education. Four of these were adopted in their entirety, two were adopted with revisions, and one — the one recommending that the position of athletic director and a head coach of any sport, be separated — was rejected in action by the board Monday night.

The board reinstated Robert McNea as athletic director not only for the remainder of the school year, but for the length of his contract.

Continuing friction between McNea and Clinton McConnell, head basketball coach, erupted in December when McConnell and four other coaches resigned in December. The board then temporarily relieved McNea of athletic director duties concerning basketball, and the investigations were requested.

Less than half the states have laws banning the union shop, but few issues are as emotional in a labor movement with many unions barely holding the line on membership.

The bill to repeal 14B was introduced by Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich. Although he comes from a district in heavily unionized Detroit the fact he does not serve on a key labor committee raises doubts that a serious attempt is now planned to push the bill.

On the other hanl, the measure to amend 14B was introduced by California Democrat Phillip Burton, a member of the Education and Labor Committee and its special subcommittee on labor.

Gosney Initiates Youth Movement For Democrats

COLUMBIANA — Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman, is initiating a youth movement to create a nucleus of prospective leaders from young voters in the party.

He said he will ask each of the 170 precinct committeemen to name two assistants in the 21-to-28 age group.

The chairman said he will talk to the committeemen about getting candidates for council and boards of trustees of public affairs in villages and for councilmen-at-large and ward councilmen in the cities. Candidates for these offices must file by Feb. 5.

Candidates for township trustees and boards of education have until Aug. 5 to file.

Gosney said he questions the legality of the appointment of Eyler Hinchliffe of Lisbon RD as County Highway Department superintendent, since Hinchliffe is a Center Township trustee.

The chairman said he believes the posts are incompatible, particularly in view of Hinchliffe's supervisory role in the county department which has dealings with the township trustees.

Bert A. Dawson Jr., East Liverpool Republican who took office Monday as county engineer, appointed Hinchliffe as the highway chief. He succeeded G. A. Zellers of Columbiana, who held the post the past four years for former engineer John Ursu, Salem Democrat.

house and let them know she was in trouble but they never came."

"She is quite safe if somewhat uncomfortable" the note began. "Barbara is presently inside a small capsule buried in a remote piece of soil. She has enough food and water to last seven days. At the end of the seven days the life supporting batteries will be discharged and her air supply will be cut off."

A ransom of $500,000 in used $20 bills would buy the "address" of the box. If the money were not paid "we will simply not say anything to anyone and Barbara will suffocate."

"Should you catch all of us we will never admit anything as to do so would be suicide and again — she will die," the note said.

The note ordered Mackle, holder of $16 million in stock in the family's Deltona Corp., to dress all in white and deliver the ransom himself. "Any deviation will result in his death. The messenger will have him in his sights," the note said.

FBI Inspector Rex Shroder of Washington, sent to supervise the investigation, said Krist had $140 in $20s with seria numbers matching the Mackle money when captured on alligator-infested Hog Island Dec. 22.

Swan set permanent bond of $500,000 for Krist and bound him over to the grand jury on charges of extortion by mail, extortion by telephone and interstate travel in aid of racketeering. Federal kidnap charges were dismissed because the Emory University coed never was taken across a state line.

will be upgraded. There is talk of their being given research assistance from the White House as well as the assignment of top administration officials to campaign for individual candidates in tough races.

Nixon has fixed the goal of regaining party control of the Senate in 1970. Twenty-five Democratic seats will be at stake then and many are regarded as vulnerable. For that reason, Republican leaders hope they can upset the Democrats' present 57-42 majority.

Democratic seats up for grabs next year include those now filled by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn. McCarthy has said he won't run as a Democrat again and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey could wind up contesting for his seat.

Business Places Due Inspections

A three - man team will begin work Monday on inspections of all East Liverpool taverns, restaurants and grocery stores.

The inspections will be made by Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne, Health Commissioner Jack Bonner and Ben Weber, health department sanitarian. Each establishment will be checked for compliance with health and sanitation regulations and to point out any fire hazards.

The fire chief pointed out the new city code requires all such businesses to have fire extinguishers of approved types available in both the kitchen and the basement.

A cascade arrangement of white glamellias with holly and white velvet streamers was carried by Miss Sandra Marie Crytzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Crytzer of Industry, when she became the bride of David Lawrence Burton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Burton of Ohioville Dec. 21 in St. Christine Catholic Church at Ohio View.

The Rev. Fr. A. E. Williams officiated. Mrs. Anthony Kress of Industry was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet sheath gown with bateau neckline, empire waist and three-quarter length sleeves cuffed with a wide band of fur.

Her removable chapel train was topped with a self - made bow attached to the watteau back. A closed pillbox of fur held a two-tier veil of sheerest English silk illusion.

Marjanne Crytzer of Industry was her sister's maid of honor and Miss DeeDee Long of Natrona, cousin of the bride, and Miss Kimberly Burton of Ohioville, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Their ruby velvet sheath gowns were fashioned with bateau neckline and three - quarter - length sleeves with fur. Matching velvet dior bows held short veils. Each carried a colonial bouquet of white baby pompons with holly and red velvet streamers.

Anthony Ciccone of Brighton Township served as best man. John Feydo of Industry and Mike Kalwarski of Natrona, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

A wedding reception was held in the church hall. A rehearsal dinner for the wedding party and family was given by the bridegroom's parents in the Riviera at Midland.

The newlyweds are at home on the Midland - Beaver Rd. in Industry following a honeymoon in Erie.

The bride, a graduate of Western Beaver High School and Mercyhurst College, is a teacher in the Western Beaver School District.

Her husband is a graduate of Western Beaver High School and is attending Geneva College. He is employed as a computer programmer with Crucible Steel in Pittsburgh.

Miss Carol Adkins Weds In Ceremonies At Church

Miss Carol J. Adkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard E. Adkins of 1027 Hazel St., became the bride of David B. Kidder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Kidder of 1572 Etruria St., Dec. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Anderson United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Carl Murray officiated for the double - ring ceremony. Miss Janie Davis presented a half - hour recital of organ music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a dress and coat ensemble of white brocade. A cluster of pearls and sequins held her illusion veil. She carried an arrangement of white and blue-tinted carnations and white rosebuds.

Miss Marlene Adkins, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a lavender dress with matching accessories and white headpiece. Her bouquet featured white carnations and red rosebuds.

The mother of the bride chose a Navy blue dress with matching accessories and pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a white dress with black accessories and a red rosebud corsage.

A reception for 100 followed in the social rooms. The buffet table was centered with a two-tier cake topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Following a honeymoon in Youngstown, the newlyweds are residing in a newly - furnished apartment in Dixonville. They are graduates of East Liverpool High School. The bridegroom is employed at Patterson Industries.

Nixon has fixed the goal of regaining party control of the Senate in 1970. Twenty-five Democratic seats will be at stake then and many are regarded as vulnerable. For that reason, Republican leaders hope they can upset the Democrats' present 57-42 majority.

Democratic seats up for grabs next year include those now filled by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn. McCarthy has said he won't run as a Democrat again and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey could wind up contesting for his seat.

Business Places Due Inspections

A three - man team will begin work Monday on inspections of all East Liverpool taverns, restaurants and grocery stores.

The inspections will be made by Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne, Health Commissioner Jack Bonner and Ben Weber, health department sanitarian. Each establishment will be checked for compliance with health and sanitation regulations and to point out any fire hazards.

The fire chief pointed out the new city code requires all such businesses to have fire extinguishers of approved types available in both the kitchen and the basement.

Example At Danville

The extent to which the East Liverpool comprehensive plan will be implemented remains dependent upon the willingness of the citizens and their representatives to devote the energy and money on the various projects.

One of the proposals for improvement of the downtown area — a longtime commercial hub for the whole district — is a "mall" for 5th and Washington Sts. in the central business section.

The city of Danville in central Illinois, concerned about the "decay" of its downtown area, last year opened its two-block park-mall after the administrators decided something drastic was needed to bring trade back to the stalemated business section.

The park-mall is a handsome shopping-dining area for young and old, with grass, fountains, lounging seats and playground equipment, flanked by bold new shops and service facilities.

TO SOLVE the traffic problem, Danville used two parallel streets for one-way traffic arteries. For parking, several blocks of old buildings were leveled to provide public lots, and work was started on a multi-floored indoor parking structure.

More than 110 businessmen contributed to the Greater Danville Development Foundation to help finance the project which cost only $112,000, including $16,000 for preparation and removal of paving, $5,000 for grading, $41,000 for paving, $6,000 for equipment and benches, $7,000 for drainage, $10,000 for electrical work, $12,000 for planting and soil and $6,000 for water and plumbing. The city government agreed to pay up to $50,000 as its share.

A main argument in favor of the improvement was the large percentage of real estate and sales taxes the city received from the downtown. If this area became stagnant, property values would decline, and a tax revenue drop would follow.

This tax loss would have to be made up elsewhere. And where else but in increasing residential property taxes?

Those favoring the mall plan cited vacant storerooms as evidence of the start of a downtown deterioration.

TODAY, Danville points to a new image for the city. There are no vacant storerooms, more people are visiting or moving into the community, the appearance of the business district is attractive and its activities draw families for entertainment, shopping and dining.

Danville residents, convinced the project has halted their downtown decay, are talking about doubling the size of the mall.

Here is an example of initiative and investment in needed change which has paid off, an example East Liverpool's leaders should study as part of a renewed effort to develop this city's full potential.

Shelving The UFO's

Perhaps it is time, at long last, to put the Unidentified Flying Object theory or concept to rest.

In light of the latest investigative report, a 1,485-page manuscript compiled by University of Colorado scientists, shelving the "flying saucers" seems to be in order — even logical.

Die-hard UFO buffs will probably give voice to howls of protest. But until they can produce more convincing evidence than they have to date, their contention that the "saucers" are interplanetary vehicles lacks credibility.

The military has conducted investigations and now a civilian group of scientists has concluded its investigation. Both groups came to the same conclusion: the "saucers" just aren't for real.

Perhaps the great mass of Americans, who have been intrigued, fascinated and even excited by the rashes of "saucer sightings" through the years, now can bring themselves to accept the position that—"flying saucers" there could be but "flying saucers" there aren't.

An Education Must

There will be both excitement and anguish in the wake of the thorough report from the Governor's Task Force on Vocational and Technical Education.

The excitement will come from educators, parents and students who already recognize the tremendous importance of broadening Ohio's educational base to include vocational and technical training.

The anguish will come from the taxpayers who must pay the bill if the task force's recommendations are put into being. The vast program would cost an estimated $200 million to $400 million, raised by such suggested taxes as income levies, an additional sales levy and more on utilities.

REGARDLESS of the final outcome, the task force has come up with an exciting report. It emphasizes the serious gap existing between the need for and the availability of vocational and technical education in Ohio.

Educators and industries were unable to "sell" the people of Stark County on this gap during ballot proposals for a county technical institute and a vocational school. Stark County voters are not unlike those elsewhere in Ohio in this respect.

As the task force points out, learning a trade, skill, occupation or craft is just as worthy as learning a profession. Most jobs today, and almost all new jobs in the future, will require some skill acquired through formal training.

IT WOULD BE FOOLISH to expect that every high school dropout today could absorb technical or vocational education. But many of them could. And it is this group of young men and women, who now are unable to get jobs, who would benefit by the training that would enable them to get work.

Every youth cannot, and does not want to enter a profession. It is this group at which the new educational concept is aimed.

Somewhere along the line, whether the task force's full report is adopted or not, Ohio must increase the technical and vocational education facilities it offers its people.

Technology Vs. Famine

Technological progress is beginning to cut away some of the gloom surrounding the men predictions of world famine within the next 30 years.

We are not minimizing the problem, but we think some attention should be given to the steps that are being taken to avert the disaster depicted so graphically by pessmistic spokesmen like English philosopher C. P. Snow.

Lecturing at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., last autumn, Mr. Snow said he finds it impossible to believe that rich nations will make the great scarfices required to prevent poor nations from starving.

HE PREDICTED that eventually "We shall, in the rich countries, be surrounded by a sea of famine, involving hundreds of millions of human beings."

Mr. Snow is not alone in his forecast of world famine before the year 2000. Many scientists hold the same view, differing only on how long the world can beat back the famine.

Those of a more optimistic viewpoint are pinning their hopes on food technology which is developing at a rapid rate.

Synthetic foods have already appeared in American supermarkets and promise to become a staple in protein-deficient lands abroad.

Soybeans are currently the prime filler for the world's great protein gap. Long valued as a food in China, they now rank as the second largest farm crop in the United States.

The dull yellow soybeans are being processed to make realistic imitations of meat and several other foods.

American food companies, several of which previously catered to vegetarians, are entering the mass market with meat-like products made from soybeans.

Not only are soybeans a cheaper source of protein than animal products, but they are accepted by people like the Hindus of food-short India who refuse to eat meat on religious grounds.

The success of soybeans on land is being matched by "fish flour" from the sea. It is a protein concentrate in powder form made from raw, whole fish. When used as an additive to rice or wheat flour — or even soybean products — it enriches them in amino acids to the level of meat, eggs or milk.

NEW PROCESSES in the field of food preservation may supplement the standard methods of canning, freezing and drying. If so, much food that now goes to waste in underdeveloped countries because it is not processed will be preserved for later consumption.

Finally, some of the experimentation that is labeled "far out" at this juncture, may well lead to food-production methods that will be standard in later years.

One such experiment consists of feeding laboratory-grown protein food to rats as a substitnte for food from the land or sea. A testing program like this one could lead to food factories which produce artificial foods by the year 2000.

Food technology has not advanced to the point where the threat of famine can be summarily dismissed, but it has developed — and is continuing to develop — at an encouraging pace.

Just In Case

As a part of the stepped-up defense measures by NATO, directly attributable to the Warsaw Pact powers' invasion of Czechoslovakia, the United States plans to conduct large-scale maneuvers near the Czechoslovak border.

As might be expected, the Soviets are screaming "provocation." They charge that the "NATO rulers are deliberately aggravating international tension with all the dangerous consequences flowing therefrom."

When Russia moved its troops near to the West German frontier with Czechoslovakia during its recent invasion of Czechoslovakia, it posed a serious new threat to the Western powers. This forced the NATO nations to develop contingency plans to meet a possible Soviet invasion from Czechoslovakia.

The maneuvers obviously are designed to give NATO troops practice in carrying out those defensive plans.

We would not expect the Russians to be pleased about it. But we can be thankful the plans have been made and the maneuvers are being raided.

Blimey!

An announcement by the Labor government in London that legislation is in the works that would restrict the right to strike proves this is an age when anything can happen.

The Labor party historically has held a position of noninterference in union-management relations. Prime Minister Harold Wilson has followed the same line for four years. Now that is about to change.

A moral can be found here. Abuse of the strike privilege can lead to government restrictions even in a nation that has fewer legal rules for labor than any other major Western country.

'Cooperate Or We'll Get Rough!'

VICTOR RIESEL

None Of Bobby's Mistakes

WASHINGTON — Once, during happier times for the Kennedy clan, I walked the length of a university campus with "Ted." He was an agile young man, metally and physically.

Victor Riesel

He laughed softly as he recalled how Peter Lawford had had to talk "Jack" out of wearing white saddle shoes and blue suits and open collars at receptions; and grinned as he spoke of Bobby's being a fast man on the political track; and wondered, since it was Friday, May 1, almost nine years ago, if it were sufficiently known that His Holiness had given special dispensation for the eating of meat. Young Kennedy had ordered roast beef for dinner.

And the years have engraved the impression that Ted Kennedy is not one to overlook the faux pas or to trip in a race with destiny. He is a careful 11.

He will not make his brother's political errors — especially "Bobby's."

And this means he will not alienate the influential American labor movement, nor its powerful political machinery, in building his "New Democracy."

In turn, this means that he will not reach for the presidency in 1972 — if Hubert H. Humphrey, at 61 then, wants it.

AND MR. HUMPHREY has told labor's high chiefs that he will spend the next four years "remaking" the Democratic party into a "liberal" party, and will need their support in the race for Senate in '70 and then again for the presidency in '72.

Labor, in the rough-hewn, indestructible person of George Meany, has pledged him that support, though no practical politician ever seriously starts running four years ahead of time.

But whether Ted Kennedy is running for national office in '72 or '76, he certainly will reach out for the labor movement — the entire movement.

It is recalled that a melancholy Bob Kennedy, out of bitterness or anguish, did just the opposite. On Feb. 19, 1964, some three months after the assassination of President Kennedy, Bob broke his silence.

He went over to the hall where 1,000 United Auto Workers delegates were meeting. It was the union's General Motors council. He spoke but three minutes.

"There is no other organization," said the emotionally exhausted Attorney Gtneral, "with which President Kennedy had closer connections, or any closer friend than the UAW.

"You played a major role in putting my brother into the White House and getting part of his program enacted."

TENSIONS AND FEUDS being what they are inside labor, this was taken as a sharp rebuff by the AFL-CIO leadership. Its president, George Meany, had a father-son love for John Kennedy. But to Bob Kennedy it always appeared that the spirit and spokesman of American labor was Walter Reuther.

Through the years he made this clear. But when he swung into the presidential primaries last year, he telephoned an old friend, a newspaperman, and asked in his blunt fashion, how does one make it up with George Meany and the movement?

Senator Edward M. Kennedy, however, never has scaled the hides of the labor veterans. As a member of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, he has always been ready to work with the labor federation's Andrew Seimiller, the anonymous "Mr. Lobby" himself.

So today the word in the big federation's headquarters is that "we're happy" he's the new whip. "We're with him, though we did not push an anti-Long campaign."

They see Ted Kennedy identifying himself with the day-to-day arduous legislative chores. They see him doing his homework. They see him, as the whip, going up to the White House in full Kennedy Camelot splendor to dialogue with the more subdued President Nixon.

BUT THEY DO NOT see him, and they say, neither does he see himself, as the party's swiftly upcoming leader. They see, rather, a three-force coalition — Hubert Humphrey, Kennedy and labor.

This is so very early to talk 1972 politics. But everybody's doing it. So the labor leaders say, if you want to project, then project a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket, or a Muskie-Kennedy ticket if fateful forces play moral games in the next few years.

This does not disturb "young" Kennedy. Very little does now.

He reached for the whip on his own. Many of the Kennedy "government-in-exile" advised him not to make the fight: not to get out front; not to change being identified with what could become disastrous legislation; not to be up there buffeted by the hurricane of war. But he vetoed all of them and went for it. He went regular. He'll stay regular.

And the nation may see what it never has — a formidable alliance of the Camelot of the Kennedys, the gradualism of gradualism of powerful and imaginatively organized labor, and the traditional legions of Hubert Humphrey and Lyndon Johnson.

This would be a tough team for Richard Nixon to crack in 1972. He may have to move some heavyweights into his line.

Musings From Max

By MARTIN MILLER

Censorship often is considered self defeating by putting a premium on the objectionable so all we have to do now is wait for our tastes to get fed up with the objectionable and it will be on its way out. It may be a long wait.

When you hear somebody say this country may be in greater danger from within than from without you might ponder these figures on research and development costs of federal agencies in the last eight years: Defense Department, $58 billion; National Aeronautics and Space Administration, $33 billion; Atomic Energy Commission, $11 billion; Health Education and Welfare, $7 billion, and National Science Foundation, $1 billion. It is only a slight oversimplification to say that our shores are better defended than our homes and streets.

Our heart bleeds for the Czechoslovakian Communist party presidium which warned that public demands for freedom in that occupied country are excessive. As William H. Vanderbilt (1821-1885) is supposed to have said, "The public be damned." You can say what you want but freedom will out.

As a cagey old operator once told a fledgling employe, "Son, you can tell them where to go but the trouble is they won't go there."

Fellow we know who always has an answer for everything says, "I haven't heard from President-elect Nixon yet but I'm expecting a call any day."

Civil rights campaigns frequently become very uncivil on both sides. After several centuries the Protestants and Catholics are still clashing in Ireland, as are the Moslems and Hindus in India, the Jews and Arabs in the Middle East, and the blacks and whites almost everywhere. Blessed are the peacemakers. And here we are starting a new year.

Most of the dopesters were wrong in predicting Sen. Edward Kennedy couldn't win in his bid to become assistant Democratic leader of the Senate and in predicting the House would not seat Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. Both won, thus further shaking our faith in the so-called experts.

Disclosure of the theft of huge amounts of U.S. military fuel and supplies in the Far East calls to mind that ancient history is full of stories of early racketeers in the Middle and Far East long before America was even a gleam in Columbus' eye. They are still giving us lessons.

If and when the law ever requires the licensing and control of cats the way dogs are licensed and controlled, the official catcatcher better be equipped to do a lot of tree climbing to nab strays.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I wonder, after reading the Review's report of the school board meeting, just what, according to Mr. McConville, is wrong with Wellsville.

When I look down the river at our neighbor, I see a small school system most ably administered. A system that has no teacher morale problem. An athletic system ably coached and producing, not a series of profit and loss entries in a ledger, but young sportsmen.

I see an administration that informs the people of what is going on in the schools. I see a school board interested in the whole spectrum of education, not just segments. A group of people who are justly proud of their schools and do not hesitate to talk about their accomplishments.

As I think about these people and their school system, I sometimes secretly hope to reverse nature and have what they have flow up river to us; because we sure as H--- could use it.

An Education Must

There will be both excitement and anguish in the wake of the thorough report from the Governor's Task Force on Vocational and Technical Education.

The excitement will come from educators, parents and students who already recognize the tremendous importance of broadening Ohio's educational base to include vocational and technical training.

The anguish will come from the taxpayers who must pay the bill if the task force's recommendations are put into being. The vast program would cost an estimated $200 million to $400 million, raised by such suggested taxes as income levies, an additional sales levy and more on utilities.

REGARDLESS of the final outcome, the task force has come up with an exciting report. It emphasizes the serious gap existing between the need for and the availability of vocational and technical education in Ohio.

Educators and industries were unable to "sell" the people of Stark County on this gap during ballot proposals for a county technical institute and a vocational school. Stark County voters are not unlike those elsewhere in Ohio in this respect.

As the task force points out, learning a trade, skill, occupation or craft is just as worthy as learning a profession. Most jobs today, and almost all new jobs in the future, will require some skill acquired through formal training.

IT WOULD BE FOOLISH to expect that every high school dropout today could absorb technical or vocational education. But many of them could. And it is this group of young men and women, who now are unable to get jobs, who would benefit by the training that would enable them to get work.

Every youth cannot, and does not want to enter a profession. It is this group at which the new educational concept is aimed.

Somewhere along the line, whether the task force's full report is adopted or not, Ohio must increase the technical and vocational education facilities it offers its people.

Technology Vs. Famine

Technological progress is beginning to cut away some of the gloom surrounding the men predictions of world famine within the next 30 years.

We are not minimizing the problem, but we think some attention should be given to the steps that are being taken to avert the disaster depicted so graphically by pessmistic spokesmen like English philosopher C. P. Snow.

Lecturing at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., last autumn, Mr. Snow said he finds it impossible to believe that rich nations will make the great scarfices required to prevent poor nations from starving.

HE PREDICTED that eventually "We shall, in the rich countries, be surrounded by a sea of famine, involving hundreds of millions of human beings."

Mr. Snow is not alone in his forecast of world famine before the year 2000. Many scientists hold the same view, differing only on how long the world can beat back the famine.

Those of a more optimistic viewpoint are pinning their hopes on food technology which is developing at a rapid rate.

Synthetic foods have already appeared in American supermarkets and promise to become a staple in protein-deficient lands abroad.

Soybeans are currently the prime filler for the world's great protein gap. Long valued as a food in China, they now rank as the second largest farm crop in the United States.

The dull yellow soybeans are being processed to make realistic imitations of meat and several other foods.

American food companies, several of which previously catered to vegetarians, are entering the mass market with meat-like products made from soybeans.

Not only are soybeans a cheaper source of protein than animal products, but they are accepted by people like the Hindus of food-short India who refuse to eat meat on religious grounds.

The success of soybeans on land is being matched by "fish flour" from the sea. It is a protein concentrate in powder form made from raw, whole fish. When used as an additive to rice or wheat flour — or even soybean products — it enriches them in amino acids to the level of meat, eggs or milk.

NEW PROCESSES in the field of food preservation may supplement the standard methods of canning, freezing and drying. If so, much food that now goes to waste in underdeveloped countries because it is not processed will be preserved for later consumption.

Finally, some of the experimentation that is labeled "far out" at this juncture, may well lead to food-production methods that will be standard in later years.

One such experiment consists of feeding laboratory-grown protein food to rats as a substitnte for food from the land or sea. A testing program like this one could lead to food factories which produce artificial foods by the year 2000.

Food technology has not advanced to the point where the threat of famine can be summarily dismissed, but it has developed — and is continuing to develop — at an encouraging pace.

Just In Case

As a part of the stepped-up defense measures by NATO, directly attributable to the Warsaw Pact powers' invasion of Czechoslovakia, the United States plans to conduct large-scale maneuvers near the Czechoslovak border.

As might be expected, the Soviets are screaming "provocation." They charge that the "NATO rulers are deliberately aggravating international tension with all the dangerous consequences flowing therefrom."

When Russia moved its troops near to the West German frontier with Czechoslovakia during its recent invasion of Czechoslovakia, it posed a serious new threat to the Western powers. This forced the NATO nations to develop contingency plans to meet a possible Soviet invasion from Czechoslovakia.

The maneuvers obviously are designed to give NATO troops practice in carrying out those defensive plans.

We would not expect the Russians to be pleased about it. But we can be thankful the plans have been made and the maneuvers are being raided.

Blimey!

An announcement by the Labor government in London that legislation is in the works that would restrict the right to strike proves this is an age when anything can happen.

The Labor party historically has held a position of noninterference in union-management relations. Prime Minister Harold Wilson has followed the same line for four years. Now that is about to change.

A moral can be found here. Abuse of the strike privilege can lead to government restrictions even in a nation that has fewer legal rules for labor than any other major Western country.

'Cooperate Or We'll Get Rough!'

VICTOR RIESEL

None Of Bobby's Mistakes

WASHINGTON — Once, during happier times for the Kennedy clan, I walked the length of a university campus with "Ted." He was an agile young man, metally and physically.

Victor Riesel

He laughed softly as he recalled how Peter Lawford had had to talk "Jack" out of wearing white saddle shoes and blue suits and open collars at receptions; and grinned as he spoke of Bobby's being a fast man on the political track; and wondered, since it was Friday, May 1, almost nine years ago, if it were sufficiently known that His Holiness had given special dispensation for the eating of meat. Young Kennedy had ordered roast beef for dinner.

And the years have engraved the impression that Ted Kennedy is not one to overlook the faux pas or to trip in a race with destiny. He is a careful 11.

He will not make his brother's political errors — especially "Bobby's."

And this means he will not alienate the influential American labor movement, nor its powerful political machinery, in building his "New Democracy."

In turn, this means that he will not reach for the presidency in 1972 — if Hubert H. Humphrey, at 61 then, wants it.

AND MR. HUMPHREY has told labor's high chiefs that he will spend the next four years "remaking" the Democratic party into a "liberal" party, and will need their support in the race for Senate in '70 and then again for the presidency in '72.

Labor, in the rough-hewn, indestructible person of George Meany, has pledged him that support, though no practical politician ever seriously starts running four years ahead of time.

But whether Ted Kennedy is running for national office in '72 or '76, he certainly will reach out for the labor movement — the entire movement.

It is recalled that a melancholy Bob Kennedy, out of bitterness or anguish, did just the opposite. On Feb. 19, 1964, some three months after the assassination of President Kennedy, Bob broke his silence.

He went over to the hall where 1,000 United Auto Workers delegates were meeting. It was the union's General Motors council. He spoke but three minutes.

"There is no other organization," said the emotionally exhausted Attorney Gtneral, "with which President Kennedy had closer connections, or any closer friend than the UAW.

"You played a major role in putting my brother into the White House and getting part of his program enacted."

TENSIONS AND FEUDS being what they are inside labor, this was taken as a sharp rebuff by the AFL-CIO leadership. Its president, George Meany, had a father-son love for John Kennedy. But to Bob Kennedy it always appeared that the spirit and spokesman of American labor was Walter Reuther.

Through the years he made this clear. But when he swung into the presidential primaries last year, he telephoned an old friend, a newspaperman, and asked in his blunt fashion, how does one make it up with George Meany and the movement?

Senator Edward M. Kennedy, however, never has scaled the hides of the labor veterans. As a member of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, he has always been ready to work with the labor federation's Andrew Seimiller, the anonymous "Mr. Lobby" himself.

So today the word in the big federation's headquarters is that "we're happy" he's the new whip. "We're with him, though we did not push an anti-Long campaign."

They see Ted Kennedy identifying himself with the day-to-day arduous legislative chores. They see him doing his homework. They see him, as the whip, going up to the White House in full Kennedy Camelot splendor to dialogue with the more subdued President Nixon.

BUT THEY DO NOT see him, and they say, neither does he see himself, as the party's swiftly upcoming leader. They see, rather, a three-force coalition — Hubert Humphrey, Kennedy and labor.

This is so very early to talk 1972 politics. But everybody's doing it. So the labor leaders say, if you want to project, then project a Humphrey-Kennedy ticket, or a Muskie-Kennedy ticket if fateful forces play moral games in the next few years.

This does not disturb "young" Kennedy. Very little does now.

He reached for the whip on his own. Many of the Kennedy "government-in-exile" advised him not to make the fight: not to get out front; not to change being identified with what could become disastrous legislation; not to be up there buffeted by the hurricane of war. But he vetoed all of them and went for it. He went regular. He'll stay regular.

And the nation may see what it never has — a formidable alliance of the Camelot of the Kennedys, the gradualism of gradualism of powerful and imaginatively organized labor, and the traditional legions of Hubert Humphrey and Lyndon Johnson.

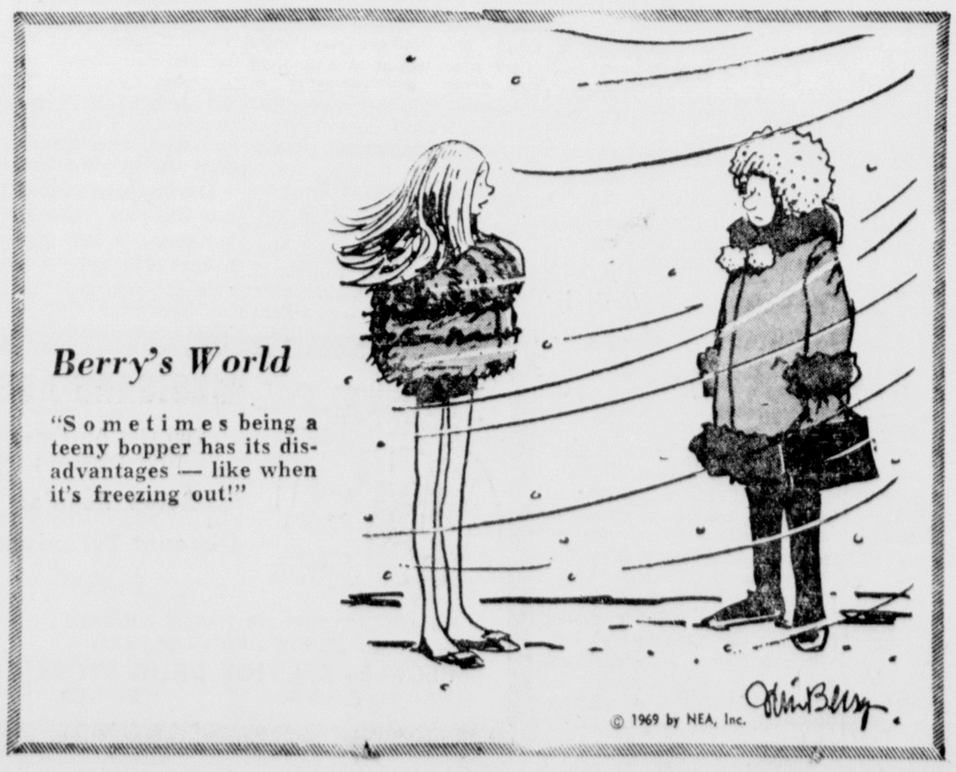

This would be a tough team for Richard Nixon to crack in 1972. He may have to move some heavyweights into his line.

Musings From Max

By MARTIN MILLER

Censorship often is considered self defeating by putting a premium on the objectionable so all we have to do now is wait for our tastes to get fed up with the objectionable and it will be on its way out. It may be a long wait.

When you hear somebody say this country may be in greater danger from within than from without you might ponder these figures on research and development costs of federal agencies in the last eight years: Defense Department, $58 billion; National Aeronautics and Space Administration, $33 billion; Atomic Energy Commission, $11 billion; Health Education and Welfare, $7 billion, and National Science Foundation, $1 billion. It is only a slight oversimplification to say that our shores are better defended than our homes and streets.

Our heart bleeds for the Czechoslovakian Communist party presidium which warned that public demands for freedom in that occupied country are excessive. As William H. Vanderbilt (1821-1885) is supposed to have said, "The public be damned." You can say what you want but freedom will out.

As a cagey old operator once told a fledgling employe, "Son, you can tell them where to go but the trouble is they won't go there."

Fellow we know who always has an answer for everything says, "I haven't heard from President-elect Nixon yet but I'm expecting a call any day."

Civil rights campaigns frequently become very uncivil on both sides. After several centuries the Protestants and Catholics are still clashing in Ireland, as are the Moslems and Hindus in India, the Jews and Arabs in the Middle East, and the blacks and whites almost everywhere. Blessed are the peacemakers. And here we are starting a new year.

Most of the dopesters were wrong in predicting Sen. Edward Kennedy couldn't win in his bid to become assistant Democratic leader of the Senate and in predicting the House would not seat Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. Both won, thus further shaking our faith in the so-called experts.

Disclosure of the theft of huge amounts of U.S. military fuel and supplies in the Far East calls to mind that ancient history is full of stories of early racketeers in the Middle and Far East long before America was even a gleam in Columbus' eye. They are still giving us lessons.

If and when the law ever requires the licensing and control of cats the way dogs are licensed and controlled, the official catcatcher better be equipped to do a lot of tree climbing to nab strays.

I wonder, after reading the Review's report of the school board meeting, just what, according to Mr. McConville, is wrong with Wellsville.

When I look down the river at our neighbor, I see a small school system most ably administered. A system that has no teacher morale problem. An athletic system ably coached and producing, not a series of profit and loss entries in a ledger, but young sportsmen.

I see an administration that informs the people of what is going on in the schools. I see a school board interested in the whole spectrum of education, not just segments. A group of people who are justly proud of their schools and do not hesitate to talk about their accomplishments.

As I think about these people and their school system, I sometimes secretly hope to reverse nature and have what they have flow up river to us; because we sure as H--- could use it.

Criss Taken To Massillon

LISBON — James T. Criss, 54, of 220 Lee Ave., charged with shooting a local man Monday at the fairgrounds, was committed to Massillon State Hospital Friday afternoon for an examination and report.

Judge Louis Tobin issued the committal order in Probate Court.

Criss had been in the County Jail since Monday morning when Glendon (Glenn) Ikirt, 49, of Pleasant Heights, Lisbon, reported Criss jumped into the rear of his station wagon outside the horse barn and fired a pistol at him.

Ikirt, who had been at the barn to feed his riding horse, was hit in the right forearm and left shoulder blade with slugs from the .32-caliber revolver. He was treated at Salem City Hospital.

Police could learn no reason for the attack. Ikirt said he has known Criss for years and never had any trouble with him.

Criss pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon Tuesday in Columbiana County Southwest Court. Judge J. L. MacDonald bound him over to the January term Grand Jury now in session and, at the request of the prosecutor, increased Criss' bond from $5,600 to $10,000.

Robert Hartford of East Palestine, defense counsel, asked Common Pleas Court to reduce bond to $3,000 so Criss could get out to enter Park Veterans Hospital in Cleveland. The prosecutor said Criss should be committed to Massillon or Lima State Hospital and Judge Joel H. Sharp refused to reduce the bond.

Sheriff's Deputies Robert Beresford and Kent Garvey took Criss to Massillon.

Fire Loss $11,070 For Liverpool Twp.

One of the lowest fire losses in the history of the Liverpool Township department has been reported by Fire Chief Chalmer Gifford in his summary for 1968.

The total for building and contents was $11 070, compared with $22,945 in 1967.

The LaCroft and Dixonville stations had a combined total of 56 runs, requiring 107 hours. Training time in either fire schools or at the station houses totaled 150 hours.

Gifford complemented township residents on their cooperation, noting that "without their help the departments couldn't have attained such a good record."

He said membership drives are in progress at both stations for men 18 years and over. Applications may be obtained through any member.

Driver Charged In Area Mishap

A Wellsville youth was cited for failure to yield the right of way as the result of a car-truck accident Friday on the Sprucevale Rd.

Gary A. Serago, 17, of Suburban Heights, Wellsville, attempted to turn east onto the township road from a private drive and his 1966 car struck a 1964 pickup truck operated by Donald H. Stoddard, 17, of the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd., the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said.

There were no injuries.

A Lisbon area youth escaped injury in a one - car accident on Raley Rd. about 70 feet north of Route 154 at 11:27 Friday night.

Richard W. Spooner, 19, of Lisbon RD 5 was southbound on Raley Rd. when he lost control of his 1967 coach and it spun around and struck a mailbox.

$13,500 Earned In Conservation

LISBON — Twelve low - income farmers in Columbiana County earned approximately $13,500 through the 1968 special conservation assistant program, reports J. Glenn Bates, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

He said the program gives full-time, low-income farmers assistance to complete conservation work they could not have completed on their own. The purpose is to increase the farm's productivity and lift it out of the low - income classification.

Assistance given on the dozen farms last year included 600 tons of lime and 50 tons of fertilizer for establishing grass cover, 45 acres of contour strips, five spring developments for better distribution of grazing, 15 acres of open drainage to farmland, 45 acres of land clearance on pasture land and the reseeding of 90 acres of pasture.

The Andes of South America rank second after the Himalayas in height among mountain ranges.

LBJ, Nixon Still Ponder Surtax Fate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bureau of the Budget was to present advance copies of President Johnson's final federal budget to the press today, but instead the figures languish unprintable while Johnson agonizes and Richard M. Nixon ponders the question:

"Will the income surtax be extended and, if so, who will ask Congress to do it? Johnson, Nixon or both of them?"

The inability of the President and the President-elect to resolve this question forced the Budget Bureau to stop printing the new budget for fiscal 1970 Friday. The budget was to be submitted to Congress next Tuesday, but that schedule also has been set back.

Aides of President Johnson reported Friday night that he still has not decided what fate he will recommend for the 10 per cent surtax, which will expire June 30 unless Congress extends it.

MOMENT OF MEDITATION

"Sin Sickness"

On a certain occasion in the life of Christ the Lord sat down and ate with those who were regarded as publicans and sinners. This was not understood by many. We read this in Luke 5:29-32. "And Levi made him a great feast in his own house: and there was a great company of publicans and of others that sat down with them. But their scribes and Pharisees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners? And Jesus answering said unto them, They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

There are quite a few things that are worthy of note in this account. First, the mission of Christ was often misunderstood. Jesus explains his true mission in this account. He came to call sinners to repentance. In order to accomplish this mission, he had to be with those who needed him. He had to be with sinners. This does not mean that he partook of their evil deeds, for he did not. However, he had to be with them to teach them the way of God. Because of their own haughty spirit, the Pharisees could not understand the Lord's interest in sinners.

Second, it can be noted that in this account, Jesus pictures himself as the "Great Physician". He explained that a person who is well does not need a doctor. Those who are sick are the ones that have need of a doctor. Of course, he was teaching of the people who were sick with the disease of sin. Sin is a sickness. When we are guilty of sin, we are not well spiritually. Each of us should be rejoicing because of our "sin-sickness" and the fact that there is a doctor who knows a remedy for it. Paul teaches that we all sin and fall short of the glory of God. Rom. 3:23. In Romans 5:12 Paul teaches that by one man sin entered into the world. The result of sin is spiritual death. We all sin, therefore, we are going to die with our illness unless we can find the "Great Physician" and allow him to cure us.

The "Great Physician" prescribed that those who are sick with sin, believe and be baptized in order to be saved. Mk. 16:16. All who will follow this remedy will be healed. Once in a while we will hear people profess their great faith in a doctor. If a person really has faith in a doctor, will they follow his directions? A man really does not have faith in a doctor who will refuse to do what the doctor says. This is true of the "Great Physician". A man really does not have faith in Christ when he refuses to believe and be baptized for the remission of sins. Follow God's remedy!

Criss Taken To Massillon

LISBON — James T. Criss, 54, of 220 Lee Ave., charged with shooting a local man Monday at the fairgrounds, was committed to Massillon State Hospital Friday afternoon for an examination and report.

Judge Louis Tobin issued the committal order in Probate Court.

Criss had been in the County Jail since Monday morning when Glendon (Glenn) Ikirt, 49, of Pleasant Heights, Lisbon, reported Criss jumped into the rear of his station wagon outside the horse barn and fired a pistol at him.

Ikirt, who had been at the barn to feed his riding horse, was hit in the right forearm and left shoulder blade with slugs from the .32-caliber revolver. He was treated at Salem City Hospital.

Police could learn no reason for the attack. Ikirt said he has known Criss for years and never had any trouble with him.

Criss pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon Tuesday in Columbiana County Southwest Court. Judge J. L. MacDonald bound him over to the January term Grand Jury now in session and, at the request of the prosecutor, increased Criss' bond from $5,600 to $10,000.

Robert Hartford of East Palestine, defense counsel, asked Common Pleas Court to reduce bond to $3,000 so Criss could get out to enter Park Veterans Hospital in Cleveland. The prosecutor said Criss should be committed to Massillon or Lima State Hospital and Judge Joel H. Sharp refused to reduce the bond.

Sheriff's Deputies Robert Beresford and Kent Garvey took Criss to Massillon.

Fire Loss $11,070 For Liverpool Twp.

One of the lowest fire losses in the history of the Liverpool Township department has been reported by Fire Chief Chalmer Gifford in his summary for 1968.

The total for building and contents was $11 070, compared with $22,945 in 1967.

The LaCroft and Dixonville stations had a combined total of 56 runs, requiring 107 hours. Training time in either fire schools or at the station houses totaled 150 hours.

Gifford complemented township residents on their cooperation, noting that "without their help the departments couldn't have attained such a good record."

He said membership drives are in progress at both stations for men 18 years and over. Applications may be obtained through any member.

Those who are sick are the ones that have need of a doctor. Of course, he was teaching of the people who were sick with the disease of sin. Sin is a sickness. When we are guilty of sin, we are not well spiritually. Each of us should be rejoicing because of our "sin-sickness" and the fact that there is a doctor who knows a remedy for it. Paul teaches that we all sin and fall short of the glory of God. Rom. 3:23. In Romans 5:12 Paul teaches that by one man sin entered into the world. The result of sin is spiritual death. We all sin, therefore, we are going to die with our illness unless we can find the "Great Physician" and allow him to cure us.

The "Great Physician" prescribed that those who are sick with sin, believe and be baptized in order to be saved. Mk. 16:16. All who will follow this remedy will be healed. Once in a while we will hear people profess their great faith in a doctor. If a person really has faith in a doctor, will they follow his directions? A man really does not have faith in a doctor who will refuse to do what the doctor says. This is true of the "Great Physician". A man really does not have faith in Christ when he refuses to believe and be baptized for the remission of sins. Follow God's remedy!

The new Robert Bycroft School for the Retarded west of Lisbon was named after Mr. Bycroft who was welfare director for Columbiana County until his death in 1966, and who helped develop the school program and aided in obtaining funds needed to build the new structure.

This class of pre-schoolers is busy coloring pictures with the aid of Mrs. Joan West, left, an assistant teacher, and Mrs. Ruth Diddle, class teacher.

Retarded School Opens

By LUCILLE HUSTON

The Robert Bycroft School for Retarded Children which opened for classes Monday was a dream of more than 10 years turned reality for Mrs. Edith Martsoff of Salem, school administrator.

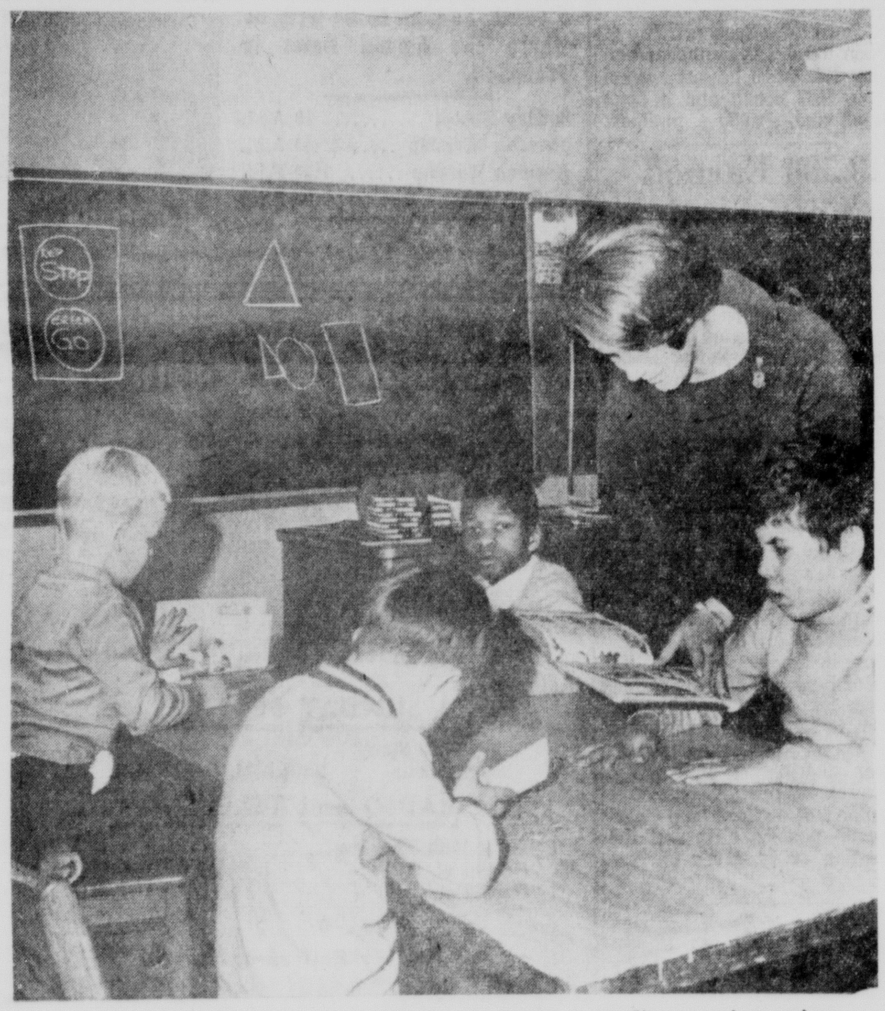

Voters of Columbiana County approved in 1965 a tax levy for one mill to run one year to provide funds for the school. This money was matched by federal funds to make a total of $389,499 available for construction of the building.

The modern, one-story school is located on the south side of Route 172 about four miles west of Lisbon on county owned land—part of the County Home Farm.

Because the Building is not yet completed, students attending classes are accompanied by painters, electricians and telephone installation men who are working to finish the structure.

The sad realization the board of directors and Mrs. Martsoff must face is the delay in construction — due to a controversy over the school site — resulted in higher construction costs leaving no money for equipment.

Mrs. Connie Cranmer, teacher, conducts a reading session using books that have pages liberally sprinkled with pictures for word association.

THE DESK and chair in the administrators office were donations, and two other chairs were formerly in her husband's office.

Desks and seats the students are using were brought from the Elkton School, but these are the property of the Beaver Local Board of Education.

Mrs. Martsoff said, "I am spending a lot of my time begging from clubs and organizations, but I really don't mind when it is for our children." Some donations have been received, including a promise of funds from the Salem Community Foundation, to pay for six dozen table type desks Mrs. Martsoff agreed to purchase from one of the old East Liverpool school buildings.

Mrs. Martsoff and the County Commissioners will confer with Kenneth Mahon, coordinator of construction programs for the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, in an effort to obtain the needed funds for equipment.

Before the new school was built, classes were held in three locations — an abandoned Beaver Local school in Elkton which was condemned for public school use, a basement in a storeroom on W. Lincoln Way in Lisbon and in the Sheltered Workshop in Lisbon.

THERE ARE 106 students enrolled at the school, 40 more receive aid at home from Pauletta Begolla of Salem, the home training worker, and 42 are employed at the Sheltered Workshop.

When the first class was formed in 1954, seven students who attended in a classroom at the former Garfield School in East Liverpool.

At the workshop they assemble dress models for the Campro Co. of Canton who in turn sells them to Dritz Co. and Sears Roebuck and Co. The young adults assemble nuts and bolts for the Lisbon Spring and Wire Co. for use in garage door hardware, and they shred and bale paper for the Hall China Co. of East Liverpool, the Sterling Boat Co. of Salem and an Electrical Refractories Co. of East Palestine.

BESIDES MRS. Martsoff and the home trainer, other staff members include Mrs. Ruth Diddle, Mrs. Virginia Biggins and Mrs. Janice Southall of East Liverpool; Miss Maria Nyktas, Mrs. Priscilla Rardain and Mrs. Connie Cranmer of Salem; Mrs. Lois Blom of Lisbon, and Miss Cynthia Painter of Leetonia; all teachers.

Joan West of Beaver Falls is an assistant teacher.

Mrs. Ann Keys of East Liverpool is the physical development specialist.

Mrs. Edna Glausser is the clerk-secretary, Blanche Hillberry and Margaret Rudibaugh are cooks, Jennifer Criss is the Cooperative Office Education worker who works part-time and attends classes part-time; and Francis Barber is custodian. Bus drivers include Fred Heslep, Madelon Bowser, Earl Mitchell, Carole Koffel, Alice Ford, Marge Gallo, and Mae Mitchell.

Workshop supervisors are Richard Little of Lisbon and Stephanie Kozma of Alliance.

This new bulding which has eight classrooms, a conference and testing room, a multi-purpose room, a pre-vocational workroom, a pre-vocational academic room and a home making unit for the students is bright and cheery, and should lighten the burden of the staff as well as providing a happier and better learning atmosphere for the children.

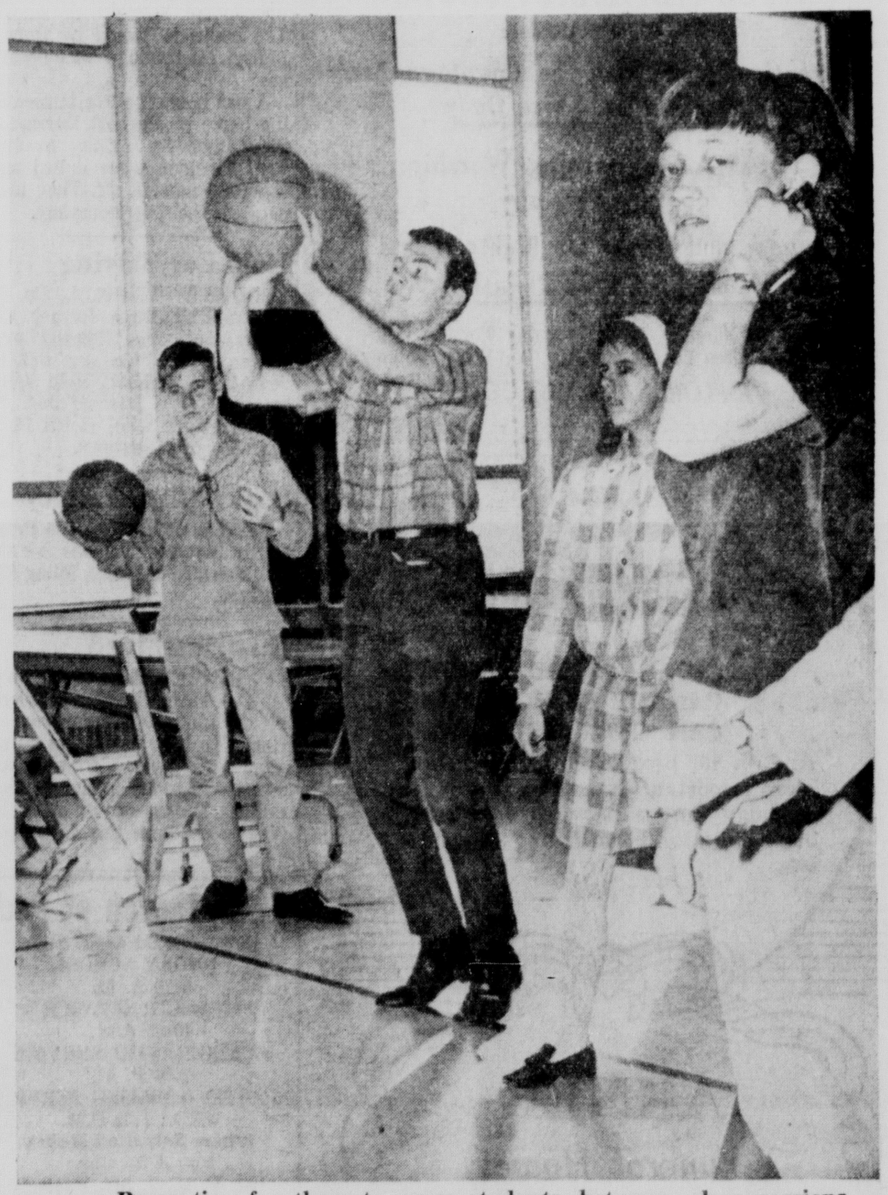

But the building itself is not enough. The students and teachers hope the funds for the needed equipment will soon be available.

School cooks Margaret Rudibaugh, left, and Blanche Hillberry use electric roasters instead of stoves to prepare lunch for the students because funds for equipment are not available.

Learning to identify colors by use of blocks is a task for the children made easier by Miss Maria Nyktas, a teacher at the school.

Recreation for these teen-age students between class sessions includes basketball in the multi-purpose room.

Hospital Fund Nears $2,000

Ailing Paul Makes A Visit Home

By ROBERT POPP

Paul McCraw, the youngster to whom the East Liverpool district extended its heart at Christmas time, is at home on a weekend leave from Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Paul and his mother, Mrs. Erma McCraw, stopped at The Review office Friday afternoon to look over some more of the hundreds of Christmas cards sent to the newspaper in his name, all containing donations to help his family meet the hospital bill.

The 36-pound, 9-year-old youngster smiled wanly as he looked through the pile of greetings.

Paul's left arm is strapped to a split and bandaged because of the tubes kept in his veins for the dialyss procedure.

"PAUL WANTS to thank all of the nice people who contributed money to help with his hospital bill," Mrs. McCraw said. "It was a great gesture of helpfulness to a little boy nobody knew, but everybody wanted to help."

Paul's release from the hospital began Friday noon. He must return Tuesday for another treatment on the artificial kidney machine that is keeping him alive while he waits, hopefully, for a kidney transplant. He has been returned to a schedule that calls for dialysis each Tuesday and Thursday.

It's Paul's first visit at home since he entered the hospital Dec. 3. Although he speaks to strangers only in monosyllables, he said he was glad to be home, that he missed his family and that he wants to try out the new tricycle waiting for him at his home.

THE TRICYCLE was the first of many gifts showered on the little fellow. When he entered the hospital more than a month ago, he confided to his mother he hoped Santa Claus would leave a tricycle for him for Christmas.

A businesman who read of the little fellow's three - year fight with an obscure, incurable disease delivered the tricycle anonymously to the home the following day.

Persons throughout the tri-state area who read of Paul's brave battle against disease heeded a suggestion to add one name to their Christmas list and send $1 or more to the Paul McCraw Fund at The Review. With contributions still trickling in, the total stands now at $1,972.

Beaver season is just around the corner, and Ralph Drake, State Game Protector for Columbiana County, says now would be a good time for hunters to start setting out their traps. The upcoming season will run from Feb. 1 - 15.

Drake reminds hunters it is not too soon to start contacting landowners to acquire heir written permission to set traps on their land. This written permission is a requirement.

He also stated tags would again be needed this year, and added he would be tagging at his home on 436 West Maple in Lisbon.

ICE FISHING is a sport familiar mostly to the hardiest of souls, but for those who would like to try their hand at it, the sport should now be excellent in this area.

In Columbiana County, Highlandtown and Guilford Lakes offer the best possibilities for interested anglers, while in Beaver County, Raccoon Lake promises some good catches. A little reminder to anyone catching a bass or muskie at Highlandtown — they must return them until Sept. 1 of this year.

Although the ice should be safe this time of year, sportsmen planning a day of fishing are urged to check with local authorities or Commission regional offices and field officers to get the latest on ice conditions.

Minimum ice thickness to insure safety is generally four inches, but conditions may vary considerably among large lakes and especially on moving water in rivers and streams.

A BRIEF WORD for the lovers of our fine-feathered friends. January is one of the most critical feeding months for birds, so don't hesitate to put a little something out for them.

MEMBERS OF THE Pennsylvania Game Commission are expected to establish tentative opening dates for 1969 hunting seasons at the group's annual meeting in Harrisburg Jan. 16-17.

Final decisions on dates for hunting seasons will not be made until the June meeting of the Commission, but tentative dates will be of help to hunters who look ahead and schedule vacations early this year.

Acquisition of additional lands for public hunting is also scheduled for consideration, and restorations and revocations of hunting privileges are on the agenda.

ARCHERS AND GUNNERS are reminded that winter hunting seasons ended in Pennsylvania today.

The winter archery deer season and the winter small game season for rabbits, grouse and squirrels ended at sunset. The combined mink and muskrat trapping season ends at noon Sunday.

SUCCESSFUL big game hunters in Pennsylvania are reminded by the Game Commission to return their report cards to Harrisburg.

The Game Law provides that hunters who harvest a bear or deer or both shall file a report on the big game taken. A penalty is provided for hunters who fail to report their big game kill to the Game Commission.

PENNSYLVANIA youths are reminded that beginning on Sept. 1 of this year no person under the age of 16 years will be able to purchase a hunting license in the state unless the person had previously held a license or presents a certificate of competency showing that he has successfully completed a course of instruction in the safe handling of firearms and bow and arrows.

The world's population of wild whooping cranes has increased to a record 49—with the possibility of more birds to come — the Interior Department's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife reported today.

An aerial survey late last week at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas, where the rare birds arrive for the winter after spending the summer in the Canadian wilds, revealed 43 adult and 6 young whoopers on the refuge grounds or adjacent Matagorda Island.

This tops last year's record of 48 which consisted of 39 adult and 9 young. Only 14 whoopers existed in the wild when the Bureau began its annual count in 1938.

THIS year's migration may exceed 50. The Canadian Wildlife Service reported seeing three whoopers near the nesting grounds as late as October 25, and these birds and possibly others may not have arrived yet. The latest arrivals on record at Arkansas came on December 21 when two birds showed up on that date in 1961.

This year's migration arrivals began on October 13 (the earliest recorded arrival was October 4, 1949) when a lone adult was seen on the refuge — two more provided company the next day.

Whooping cranes in captivity number 18, 12 of them at the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center near Laurel, Maryland.

Christian, Montgomery Lead 80-70 Win For Potters

Western Reserve Beaten At Warren

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool Potters took a giant step toward the Ohio Big 8 basketball crown with an 80-70 win over Warren Western Reserve on the Raiders' floor last night.

The Potters got a big assist from Alliance, which upset Salem. East Liverpool, 2-0, is nw the only unbeaten team in the league.

Last night's game at Warren was a bruising affair, with 50 personal fouls called and five players fouling out. Alvin Burch set a new school record for the Raiders by scoring 38 points, breaking his own mark by two.

Last year, East Liverpool played a near-perfect game against the Raiders, winning 67-34. Last night, the Potters were perfect only in spots, notably late in the second period when they broke a 25-25 tie to take a 39-29 halftime lead.

Jerry Christian had another outstanding game, with 27 points and 20 rebounds. Bill Montgomery, hitting from outside, tallied 22 points, and Rick Steffen added 11, including a perfect 9 of 9 from the foul line, before fouling out in the third period.

Dave Thomas came off the bench for the Raiders to get 11 points in the fourth period and Fred Benson added 10. Andy Kelson was high rebounder with 9, as the Potters enjoyed a 52-40 edge on the boards.

East Liverpool did not enjoy an edge in turnovers, however, committing 24 to 15 for the home club. The Raider press bothered East Liverpool at times. For the first time in memory the Potters ran instead of holding the ball, and this resulted in their biggest score over the last two seasons. It also resulted in the biggest opposing score in the same period, with the exception of the 75 scored by Martins Ferry in the district playoffs last year.

The Potters trailed 8-5, but Steffen hit six straight from the foul line and Montgomery threw in three straight long shots to give the visitors an 18-10 margin after one period. With the score 23-15, the Raider press became effective and they ran off eight straight to tie the score. But after an exchange of baskets, Montgomery and Christian led the surge that produced the 10 - point halftime bulge. East Liverpool made 15 of 19 fouls in the first half to keep ahead.

In the third period the margin was stretched to 52-34 before Warren started to rally. The gap was down to 12 points entering the last period, and Thomas sparked a surge that got it to 58-52 with 6:50 left. But here Montgomery made a three-point play, and the Potters rebuilt the spread to 70-56 and coasted in. Christian had 9 points in the final period, while Burch had 12.

Coach Clint McConnell was pleased with the effort made by the team, but expressed displeasure with the officiating. Johnson and Cunningham also fouled out for East Liverpool, while Jim Morales and Kelson collected five fouls for the home team.

The Potters are now 8-1 overall, Western Reserve 6-3.

Tigers Win 7th In Row, Defeat Oak Glen 74-47

A tight defense and well balanced scoring attack resulted in Wellsville's eighth victory in nine games as the Tigers rolled over rival Oak Glen, 74-47, Friday night at Beacom Memorial Gym.

Coach Bob Dawson's Tigers also came up with their third straight game of shooting 50 per cent or better. Last night Wellsville hit on 30 of 60 attempts.

The balanced scoring was paced by John Bobalik with 19 but he was supported by Bill Miller with 13 while Ken Kornbau had 12 and Paul Martin and Rick Ross 11 each.

The victory was the seventh in a row for Wellsville, which has only lost to Midland.

Following the game, Dawson was proud that the Tigers defense held up so well and was happy with the balanced scoring.

The Tigers limited Oak Glen (3-5), to 47 points and outscored the Golden Bears 30-18 from the field.

After posting a 32-21 halftime lead, Wellsville exploded in the third period, outscoring its foe 27-10 as Ross scored 9 of his 11 points in that quarter.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Bears showed only Tim Crago and Jim Carnes in the double figures with 12 and 11 respectively.

Oak Glen shot a cold 28 per cent, hitting on 18 of 64 attempts. Wellsville showed a 47-36 edge in rebounds with Bobalik grabbing 12 and Martin 10.

The Wellsville reserves also posted their eighth victory in nine games with a 54-40 verdict. Leading Coach Al Barlis' team was John Lewis with 17, while Bob McGraw had 10. Bill Ferguson scored 8 for Oak Glen.

Midland Downs Hopewell, George Green Scores 35

Midland won its third straight Section 6 game last night, downing Hopewell 70-58 on the losers' floor.

The Leopards are tied for the league lead with Monaca, also 3-0. The loss was the first for Hopewell in three league outings.

Sophomore George Green had the finest night of his varsity career, pouring in 35 points. Greg Vanlier added 14. Pete Sternart had 18 ant Mike Karas 17 for the losers.

Hopewell hit 50 per cent and had a 23 22 edge in field goals, but Midland, which hit 39 per cent from the field, made 26 of 38 free throws. Hopewell hit only 12 of 20.

Midland had a 45-25 rebounding edge, as Green grabbed 19 and Vanlier 15. Karas, 6-6, had 12 for the losers.

Midland never trailed, and the only tie was at 2-2. The Leopards streaked to a 36-19 lead late in the second period before Hopewell came back. The Vikings were hot in the third period and narrowed the margin to 52-49 just before the period ended. The last eight minutes was a parade to the foul line, as Midland sunk 14 foul shots.

Trojans Lose First

Leetonia Upsets Sebring On Casey's Late Basket

LEETONIA — A basket with two seconds to go by Ed Casey gave Leetonia a 75-73 win over previously unbeaten Sebring in a Tri-County basketball game here last night.

The Trojans had been ranked second in the state among Class A teams. They were 13 points down in the third period, but rallied to tie the score at 66. The lead then see-sawed. Greg Wilson hit a bucket with 32 seconds to go to give Sebring a 73-71 lead, but Rick Sobotka made two fouls, his only points of the night, with 20 seconds left to knot the score and set the stage for Casey's shot.

Allen Gibson led the Bears with 21 and Casey netted 19. Glen Windram added 12 points and grabbed 22 rebounds. Wilson had 30 for the losers, while Joe Bowers had 15, Don Campbell 13 and Chuck Campbell 12.

Leetonia is now 5-4, 2-2 in league play. Sebring is 7-1, 3-1 in the league.

Sebring won the reserve game 46-32.

Christian, Montgomery Lead 80-70 Win For Potters

Western Reserve Beaten At Warren

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool Potters took a giant step toward the Ohio Big 8 basketball crown with an 80-70 win over Warren Western Reserve on the Raiders' floor last night.

The Potters got a big assist from Alliance, which upset Salem. East Liverpool, 2-0, is nw the only unbeaten team in the league.

Last night's game at Warren was a bruising affair, with 50 personal fouls called and five players fouling out. Alvin Burch set a new school record for the Raiders by scoring 38 points, breaking his own mark by two.

Last year, East Liverpool played a near-perfect game against the Raiders, winning 67-34. Last night, the Potters were perfect only in spots, notably late in the second period when they broke a 25-25 tie to take a 39-29 halftime lead.

Jerry Christian had another outstanding game, with 27 points and 20 rebounds. Bill Montgomery, hitting from outside, tallied 22 points, and Rick Steffen added 11, including a perfect 9 of 9 from the foul line, before fouling out in the third period.

Dave Thomas came off the bench for the Raiders to get 11 points in the fourth period and Fred Benson added 10. Andy Kelson was high rebounder with 9, as the Potters enjoyed a 52-40 edge on the boards.

East Liverpool did not enjoy an edge in turnovers, however, committing 24 to 15 for the home club. The Raider press bothered East Liverpool at times. For the first time in memory the Potters ran instead of holding the ball, and this resulted in their biggest score over the last two seasons. It also resulted in the biggest opposing score in the same period, with the exception of the 75 scored by Martins Ferry in the district playoffs last year.

The Potters trailed 8-5, but Steffen hit six straight from the foul line and Montgomery threw in three straight long shots to give the visitors an 18-10 margin after one period. With the score 23-15, the Raider press became effective and they ran off eight straight to tie the score. But after an exchange of baskets, Montgomery and Christian led the surge that produced the 10 - point halftime bulge. East Liverpool made 15 of 19 fouls in the first half to keep ahead.

In the third period the margin was stretched to 52-34 before Warren started to rally. The gap was down to 12 points entering the last period, and Thomas sparked a surge that got it to 58-52 with 6:50 left. But here Montgomery made a three-point play, and the Potters rebuilt the spread to 70-56 and coasted in. Christian had 9 points in the final period, while Burch had 12.

Coach Clint McConnell was pleased with the effort made by the team, but expressed displeasure with the officiating. Johnson and Cunningham also fouled out for East Liverpool, while Jim Morales and Kelson collected five fouls for the home team.

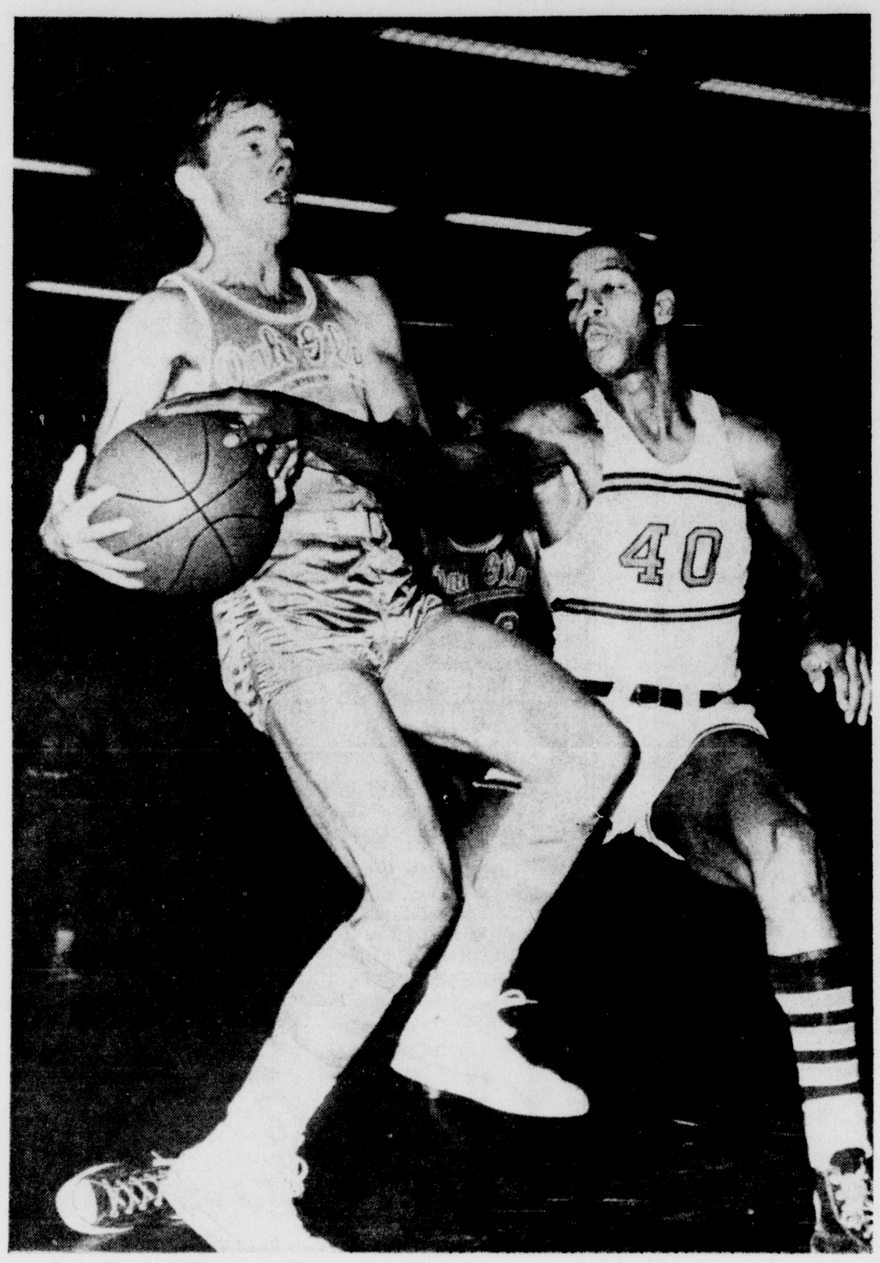

The Potters are now 8-1 overall, Western Reserve 6-3.

Tigers Win 7th In Row, Defeat Oak Glen 74-47

A tight defense and well balanced scoring attack resulted in Wellsville's eighth victory in nine games as the Tigers rolled over rival Oak Glen, 74-47, Friday night at Beacom Memorial Gym.

Coach Bob Dawson's Tigers also came up with their third straight game of shooting 50 per cent or better. Last night Wellsville hit on 30 of 60 attempts.

The balanced scoring was paced by John Bobalik with 19 but he was supported by Bill Miller with 13 while Ken Kornbau had 12 and Paul Martin and Rick Ross 11 each.

The victory was the seventh in a row for Wellsville, which has only lost to Midland.

Following the game, Dawson was proud that the Tigers defense held up so well and was happy with the balanced scoring.

The Tigers limited Oak Glen (3-5), to 47 points and outscored the Golden Bears 30-18 from the field.

After posting a 32-21 halftime lead, Wellsville exploded in the third period, outscoring its foe 27-10 as Ross scored 9 of his 11 points in that quarter.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Bears showed only Tim Crago and Jim Carnes in the double figures with 12 and 11 respectively.

Oak Glen shot a cold 28 per cent, hitting on 18 of 64 attempts. Wellsville showed a 47-36 edge in rebounds with Bobalik grabbing 12 and Martin 10.

The Wellsville reserves also posted their eighth victory in nine games with a 54-40 verdict. Leading Coach Al Barlis' team was John Lewis with 17, while Bob McGraw had 10. Bill Ferguson scored 8 for Oak Glen.

Midland Downs Hopewell, George Green Scores 35

Midland won its third straight Section 6 game last night, downing Hopewell 70-58 on the losers' floor.

The Leopards are tied for the league lead with Monaca, also 3-0. The loss was the first for Hopewell in three league outings.

Hopewell hit 50 per cent and had a 23 22 edge in field goals, but Midland, which hit 39 per cent from the field, made 26 of 38 free throws. Hopewell hit only 12 of 20.

Midland had a 45-25 rebounding edge, as Green grabbed 19 and Vanlier 15. Karas, 6-6, had 12 for the losers.

Midland never trailed, and the only tie was at 2-2. The Leopards streaked to a 36-19 lead late in the second period before Hopewell came back. The Vikings were hot in the third period and narrowed the margin to 52-49 just before the period ended. The last eight minutes was a parade to the foul line, as Midland sunk 14 foul shots.

Trojans Lose First

Leetonia Upsets Sebring On Casey's Late Basket

LEETONIA — A basket with two seconds to go by Ed Casey gave Leetonia a 75-73 win over previously unbeaten Sebring in a Tri-County basketball game here last night.

The Trojans had been ranked second in the state among Class A teams. They were 13 points down in the third period, but rallied to tie the score at 66. The lead then see-sawed. Greg Wilson hit a bucket with 32 seconds to go to give Sebring a 73-71 lead, but Rick Sobotka made two fouls, his only points of the night, with 20 seconds left to knot the score and set the stage for Casey's shot.

Allen Gibson led the Bears with 21 and Casey netted 19. Glen Windram added 12 points and grabbed 22 rebounds. Wilson had 30 for the losers, while Joe Bowers had 15, Don Campbell 13 and Chuck Campbell 12.

Leetonia is now 5-4, 2-2 in league play. Sebring is 7-1, 3-1 in the league.

Sebring won the reserve game 46-32.

Knudsen's Late Shot Nips Columbiana 5

COLUMBIANA — Bill Knudson fired a field goal from the corner with one second remaining to give Minerva a 56-54 victory over Columbiana here Friday night.

Columbiana, fighting an uphill battle throughout the contest, finally tied the game at 54-54 on Frank Ringel's feld goal with 15 seconds to go, but Knudson, who led Minerva with 21 points, registered the deciding basket.

Columbiana trailed 29-24 at halftime but came on strong at the end to nearly nip the visitors after falling behind 48-36 in the third quarter.

Gary Gregg paced Columbiana with 20 points. The Clippers shot a low 27 per cent from the field while Minerva had a 44 per cent shooting mark.

Columbiana is now 1-8 for the season and Minerva 3-6.

The Minerva reserves won, 36-32.

Colts Made 3-Touchdown Favorite For Super Game

By Ralph Bernstein
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP)—The New York Jets, led by super quarterback Joe Namath, and the Baltimore Colts with Cinderella star Earl Morrall wound up with light workouts today their preparations for the third annual world championship professional football game Sunday in the Orange Bowl.

The odds makers have installed the Colts, champions of the National Football League, 18 point favorites over the Jets, kings of the younger American Football League. The NFL won easily the first two games of the series inaugurated in 1967, after the leagues ended their competitive war over players and gate receipts.

Kickoff for the game to be witnessed by a sellout crowd of 75,354 is 3:05 p.m. EST. The game will be televised nationally (NBC). The weather forecast is for 70 degree temperatures and sunny skies.

At stake for the players, in addition to the pro football title is $15,000 per man for the winners as against $7,500 for each loser.

Baltimore won 13 of its 14 regular season games to take its division title, then bested Minnesota for the NFL's Western Conference crown. The Colts went on to smash the Eastern champion, Cleveland, 34-0 in the NFL championship game.

In the AFL, the Jets soared to their first title since the league was born in 1960, winning their Eastern Division with an 11-3 record. They came from behind in the AFL title game to edge Oakland 27-23. Namath, the $400,000 bonus kid from the University of Alabama, threw three touchdown passes against Oakland.

This Super Bowl game matches clubs with high powered offenses and stingy defenses. The Colts in 16 games scored 460 points, and perhaps more meaningful, allowed the opposition only 158. Baltimore posted three shutouts. It avenged its only setback by pulverizing Cleveland in the title game.

Not to be outdone, the Jets scored 419 points and allowed 280, posting the best team defensive record in the AFL. The big question in the game is defense. The Jets don't appear to match the Colts in this department, which could be the story of the game.

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets, who once coached Baltimore to two NFL championships, insists his less experienced team has an excellent chance to be the first AFL Super Bowl winner.

"We are the best AFL team to play in the Super Bowl," says the short, stocky Ewbank, who has been walking with the help of a cane due to a pulled muscle sustained during the post game celebration of the Oakland victory.

Ewbank feels his team has a better chance than Kansas City and Oakland did against Green Bay in the first two Super Bowl games. The main reason is that New York has Namath, who could be the best quarterback in professional football.

The outspoken Namath—he chided the Colts all last week as being inferior and challenged the ability of some of their star players—did it all for the Jets this past season. He completed 187 of 380 passes for 3,147 yards and 15 touchdowns. He can throw long. He gets the ball off fast, and he's accurate. Perhaps more important, he's a leader, a take charge guy who inspires teams to superior performance.

Lombardi Mentioned For Baseball Post

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—General Manager Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers probably would accept the job of Baseball Commissioner if it were offered to him, an Atlanta newspaper says.

The report was attributed to Braves outfielder Hank Aaron, who the Atlanta Journal quoted as saying, "Vince was close to baseball before and someone told me—someone very close to him—that Vince probably would accept the commissoner's job if he could have a sturdy hand in it."

The story in the paper published Friday by baseball writer Wilt Browning said Lombardi described the report as "interesting."

Lombardi, who built a professional football dynasty at Green Bay, was a member of the board of directors when the Braves were at Milwaukee.

Cope, Mills Get 40 As United Wins Fifth

HANOVERTON — With Steve Cope and Jack Mills combining for 40 points, United Local had little trouble posting its fifth victory in eight starts by defeating Carrollton St. Edward's 65-46 here Friday night.

United led at the end of the first quarter 19-15 and went into a 31-20 halftime margin and never looked back.

Cope took scoring honors with 21 points while Mills followed with 19 and Jim Bob had 14.

The United reserves romped to a 68-28 victory in the preliminary contest.

3 Events To Hold Meet Spotlight

BOSTON (AP)—The hurdles, the mile and the two-mile run loom as the top attractions tonight when the indoor track circuit makes an annual early swing into Boston for the 43rd Knights of Columbus Games at the garden.

The 45-yard high hurdles will match Olympic gold medal winner Willie Davenport against Erv Hall and Leon Coleman, the second and fourth place finishers respectively at Mexico City.

The O'Reilly Mile shapes up as a sizzler with Kent State's Sam Bair, who set a Boston record of 4:01.9 on the same track a year ago, rated a slight favorite.

Seeking to wipe out Bair's mark will be three sub-four minute milers, Olympic 1,500-meter finalist Marty Liquori of Villanova, Olympian Dave Bailey of Toronto and Brian Kivlan of Manhattan. The sleeper may be Australia's George Scott, running for the Pacific Coast TFC.

George Young, the bronze medal winner in the Olympic 3,000-meter steeplechase, heads an outstanding field in the Larivee two-mile run.

Set to take on young are New England cross country champion Art Dulong of Holy Cross, 1968 Boston A.A. Marathon winner Amby Burfoot, Olympic 5,000-meter finalist Bob Finlay of Toronto, Olympian Sebsibe Mamo of Ethiopia and Colby College and IC4A cross country king Steve Stageberg.

Girl Jockeys' Room Built At Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Santa Anita is building a dressing room for girl jockeys...even though some horse racing people doubt it will get much use.

An exercise girl at the track, Sandy Schleiffers, 22, wants to be the first to use the tiny room next to the dressing quarters for male jockeys.

She had applied for an apprentice jockey license, and Charles Harman of the California Horse Racing Board says it's against the law to forbid a woman to seek a jockey's license just because she's a woman.

It's illegal in California to discriminate because of sex, except in the case of a hazardous occupation.

A Santa Anita official said this week he didn't think the hazardous occupation qualification would apply.

Hornyak Scores 86 In St. John's Victory

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—Allan Hornyak scored a career high of 86 points Friday night as Bellaire St. John's defeated Tiltonsville 103-63 in a high school basketball game.

The tally included 40 field goals and six of 11 free throws. so far this year the 6-2, 175 pound Hornyak has averaged 46.3 points in nine contests.

As a junior last year the lefthander averaged 42.6 points.

Automakers Are Named In Pollution Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department sued the Big Four automakers Friday, charging they conspired to stifle development of devices to control air pollution by automobiles.

The civil suit was filed in Los Angeles against General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., American Motors Corp. and the Automobile Manufacturers Association, a trade organization.

It charged that since 1953 they had engaged in unlawful agreements to restrain trade and eliminate competition, in violaton of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The companies and the association issued statements denying they had restrained trade. Instead, they said, they have cooperated to speed development of antipollution devices.

The Justice Department charged they agreed:

—To eliminate competition among themselves in the development and installation of pollution control equipment.

—To eliminate competition in buying patents and patent rights for such equipment.

—To agree on a date for installing pollution control equipment and install it uniformly.

—And to restrict publicity about research and development of pollution control devices.

The suit said the defendants could have installed positive crankcase ventilation devices on cars sold outside California in 1962, but agreed not to do it until 1963.

In early 1962 and 1963, it said the four companies agreed to delay the use of an improved positive crankcase ventilation device on cars sold in California.

The suit charged that in early 1964 the companies agreed to tell California pollution authorities a device to control exhaust pollution could not be installed until 1967, when in fact it could have been used on 1966 models.

It said the four finally installed the devices on 1966 modesl because of pressure from manufacturers outside the auto industry.

Thomas C. Mann, former undersecretary of state who is president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, said the suit "is based on a profound misunderstanding of the cooperative program" of the automakers to control pollution.

"We greatly regret the sudden decision of the Department of Justice to attack the industry's 15-year-long cooperative program to develop and perfect motor vehicle emission controls."

'Post' To Close As Losses Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Printing presses are humming a requiem for the Saturday Evening Post, a magazine that remained unsophisticated in an increasingly sophisticated age.

The issue dated Feb. 8, now being printed, is the last in a series that began in 1821. It had always been a folksy publication.

The Post's demise was announced Friday by Martin S. Ackerman, president of the Post and its parent company, Curtis Publishing Co.

"Apparently there is just not the need for our product in today's scheme of living," he said.

Long a financial drag on Curtis, the Post had a deficit of about $5 million in 1968 and faced the prospect of another $3 million loss in 1969, Ackerman said. He blamed the Post's difficultes on the fact television has attracted an increasing share of the advertising dollar in recent years.

City Driver Charged After Accident Here

A city man was charged with driving while intoxicated as the result of an accident at the intersection of the Hill Rd. and Ravine St. at 11:04 Friday night.

Joseph T. Hercules, 21, of 1742 Wyoming Ave. told police he was traveling west on the Hill Rd. when he lost control of his 1965 convertible and it struck a concrete retaining wall.

The car was demolished.

In Africa, Bible Society vans must often drive at top speed through villages, as slowdowns or stops would mean that the van would be surrounded and scriptures sold out, with none left for the village for which delivery was intended.

Colts Made 3-Touchdown Favorite For Super Game

By Ralph Bernstein
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP)—The New York Jets, led by super quarterback Joe Namath, and the Baltimore Colts with Cinderella star Earl Morrall wound up with light workouts today their preparations for the third annual world championship professional football game Sunday in the Orange Bowl.

The odds makers have installed the Colts, champions of the National Football League, 18 point favorites over the Jets, kings of the younger American Football League. The NFL won easily the first two games of the series inaugurated in 1967, after the leagues ended their competitive war over players and gate receipts.

Kickoff for the game to be witnessed by a sellout crowd of 75,354 is 3:05 p.m. EST. The game will be televised nationally (NBC). The weather forecast is for 70 degree temperatures and sunny skies.

At stake for the players, in addition to the pro football title is $15,000 per man for the winners as against $7,500 for each loser.

Baltimore won 13 of its 14 regular season games to take its division title, then bested Minnesota for the NFL's Western Conference crown. The Colts went on to smash the Eastern champion, Cleveland, 34-0 in the NFL championship game.

In the AFL, the Jets soared to their first title since the league was born in 1960, winning their Eastern Division with an 11-3 record. They came from behind in the AFL title game to edge Oakland 27-23. Namath, the $400,000 bonus kid from the University of Alabama, threw three touchdown passes against Oakland.

This Super Bowl game matches clubs with high powered offenses and stingy defenses. The Colts in 16 games scored 460 points, and perhaps more meaningful, allowed the opposition only 158. Baltimore posted three shutouts. It avenged its only setback by pulverizing Cleveland in the title game.

Not to be outdone, the Jets scored 419 points and allowed 280, posting the best team defensive record in the AFL. The big question in the game is defense. The Jets don't appear to match the Colts in this department, which could be the story of the game.

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the Jets, who once coached Baltimore to two NFL championships, insists his less experienced team has an excellent chance to be the first AFL Super Bowl winner.

"We are the best AFL team to play in the Super Bowl," says the short, stocky Ewbank, who has been walking with the help of a cane due to a pulled muscle sustained during the post game celebration of the Oakland victory.

Ewbank feels his team has a better chance than Kansas City and Oakland did against Green Bay in the first two Super Bowl games. The main reason is that New York has Namath, who could be the best quarterback in professional football.

The outspoken Namath—he chided the Colts all last week as being inferior and challenged the ability of some of their star players—did it all for the Jets this past season. He completed 187 of 380 passes for 3,147 yards and 15 touchdowns. He can throw long. He gets the ball off fast, and he's accurate. Perhaps more important, he's a leader, a take charge guy who inspires teams to superior performance.

Cope, Mills Get 40 As United Wins Fifth

HANOVERTON — With Steve Cope and Jack Mills combining for 40 points, United Local had little trouble posting its fifth victory in eight starts by defeating Carrollton St. Edward's 65-46 here Friday night.

United led at the end of the first quarter 19-15 and went into a 31-20 halftime margin and never looked back.

Cope took scoring honors with 21 points while Mills followed with 19 and Jim Bob had 14.

Jim Wilks paced the visiting Carrollton five with 15.

The United reserves romped to a 68-28 victory in the preliminary contest.

Smithfield Outclasses Stanton Red Raiders

SMITHFIELD — Smithfield completely outclassed Stanton here Friday night, ripping the Red Raiders, 82 48.

The lopsided victory sent Stanton to a 2-7 record on the season while Smithfield is batting .500 at 5-5.

Doug Maderia tosed in 27 points and Ron Konra added 20 as they came within one point of outscoring the Stanton five between them.

Dave Olesky hit the double figures for Stanton with 12 and Tim Furbee scored 10.

Stanton had a cool 29 per cent shooting mark while Smithfield found the range on 33 of 65 points for 51 per cent.

The Stanton reserves registered a 44-31 victory.

Girl Jockeys' Room Built At Santa Anita

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Santa Anita is building a dressing room for girl jockeys...even though some horse racing people doubt it will get much use.

An exercise girl at the track, Sandy Schleiffers, 22, wants to be the first to use the tiny room next to the dressing quarters for male jockeys.

She had applied for an apprentice jockey license, and Charles Harman of the California Horse Racing Board says it's against the law to forbid a woman to seek a jockey's license just because she's a woman.

It's illegal in California to discriminate because of sex, except in the case of a hazardous occupation.

A Santa Anita official said this week he didn't think the hazardous occupation qualification would apply.

Hornyak Scores 86 In St. John's Victory

BELLAIRE, Ohio (AP)—Allan Hornyak scored a career high of 86 points Friday night as Bellaire St. John's defeated Tiltonsville 103-63 in a high school basketball game.

The tally included 40 field goals and six of 11 free throws. so far this year the 6-2, 175 pound Hornyak has averaged 46.3 points in nine contests.

As a junior last year the lefthander averaged 42.6 points.

Automakers Are Named In Pollution Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department sued the Big Four automakers Friday, charging they conspired to stifle development of devices to control air pollution by automobiles.

The civil suit was filed in Los Angeles against General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., American Motors Corp. and the Automobile Manufacturers Association, a trade organization.

It charged that since 1953 they had engaged in unlawful agreements to restrain trade and eliminate competition, in violaton of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

The companies and the association issued statements denying they had restrained trade. Instead, they said, they have cooperated to speed development of antipollution devices.

The Justice Department charged they agreed:

—To eliminate competition among themselves in the development and installation of pollution control equipment.

—To eliminate competition in buying patents and patent rights for such equipment.

—To agree on a date for installing pollution control equipment and install it uniformly.

—And to restrict publicity about research and development of pollution control devices.

The suit said the defendants could have installed positive crankcase ventilation devices on cars sold outside California in 1962, but agreed not to do it until 1963.

In early 1962 and 1963, it said the four companies agreed to delay the use of an improved positive crankcase ventilation device on cars sold in California.

The suit charged that in early 1964 the companies agreed to tell California pollution authorities a device to control exhaust pollution could not be installed until 1967, when in fact it could have been used on 1966 models.

It said the four finally installed the devices on 1966 models because of pressure from manufacturers outside the auto industry.

Thomas C. Mann, former undersecretary of state who is president of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, said the suit "is based on a profound misunderstanding of the cooperative program" of the automakers to control pollution.

"We greatly regret the sudden decision of the Department of Justice to attack the industry's 15-year-long cooperative program to develop and perfect motor vehicle emission controls."

'Post' To Close As Losses Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Printing presses are humming a requiem for the Saturday Evening Post, a magazine that remained unsophisticated in an increasingly sophisticated age.

The issue dated Feb. 8, now being printed, is the last in a series that began in 1821. It had always been a folksy publication.

The Post's demise was announced Friday by Martin S. Ackerman, president of the Post and its parent company, Curtis Publishing Co.

"Apparently there is just not the need for our product in today's scheme of living," he said.

Long a financial drag on Curtis, the Post had a deficit of about $5 million in 1968 and faced the prospect of another $3 million loss in 1969, Ackerman said. He blamed the Post's difficultes on the fact television has attracted an increasing share of the advertising dollar in recent years.

City Driver Charged After Accident Here

A city man was charged with driving while intoxicated as the result of an accident at the intersection of the Hill Rd. and Ravine St. at 11:04 Friday night.

Joseph T. Hercules, 21, of 1742 Wyoming Ave. told police he was traveling west on the Hill Rd. when he lost control of his 1965 convertible and it struck a concrete retaining wall.

The car was demolished.

In Africa, Bible Society vans must often drive at top speed through villages, as slowdowns or stops would mean that the van would be surrounded and scriptures sold out, with none left for the village for which delivery was intended.

Lombardi Mentioned For Baseball Post

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—General Manager Vince Lombardi of the Green Bay Packers probably would accept the job of Baseball Commissioner if it were offered to him, an Atlanta newspaper says.

The report was attributed to Braves outfielder Hank Aaron, who the Atlanta Journal quoted as saying, "Vince was close to baseball before and someone told me—someone very close to him—that Vince probably would accept the commissoner's job if he could have a sturdy hand in it."

The story in the paper published Friday by baseball writer Wilt Browning said Lombardi described the report as "interesting."

Lombardi, who built a professional football dynasty at Green Bay, was a member of the board of directors when the Braves were at Milwaukee.

3 Events To Hold Meet Spotlight

BOSTON (AP)—The hurdles, the mile and the two-mile run loom as the top attractions tonight when the indoor track circuit makes an annual early swing into Boston for the 43rd Knights of Columbus Games at the garden.

The 45-yard high hurdles will match Olympic gold medal winner Willie Davenport against Erv Hall and Leon Coleman, the second and fourth place finishers respectively at Mexico City.

The O'Reilly Mile shapes up as a sizzler with Kent State's Sam Bair, who set a Boston record of 4:01.9 on the same track a year ago, rated a slight favorite.

Seeking to wipe out Bair's mark will be three sub-four minute milers, Olympic 1,500-meter finalist Marty Liquori of Villanova, Olympian Dave Bailey of Toronto and Brian Kivlan of Manhattan. The sleeper may be Australia's George Scott, running for the Pacific Coast TFC.

George Young, the bronze medal winner in the Olympic 3,000-meter steeplechase, heads an outstanding field in the Larivee two-mile run.

Set to take on young are New England cross country champion Art Dulong of Holy Cross, 1968 Boston A.A. Marathon winner Amby Burfoot, Olympic 5,000-meter finalist Bob Finlay of Toronto, Olympian Sebsibe Mamo of Ethiopia and Colby College and IC4A cross country king Steve Stageberg.

Man's Act Of Heroism Triggers Fund Campaign

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If Raymond Sancoucie had been true to his name, he wouldn't have taken up that chase last New Year's Eve.

Sansoucie is French for "without care." Raymond Sansoucie cared, pursued a youthful purse snatcher and was shot to death — over $6 the thief had taken from a 61-year-old widow.

Sansoucie, a father of four whose widow is expecting a fifth child, died in his wife's arms. Now his act of heroism has triggerel a campaign by the St. Louis Grand Jury Association to raise funds for his family.

Within seven days, the fund billowed to nearly $50,000. And there were the letters. Many correspondents wondered if Sansoucie's blood should be on the American conscience.

"It is a sign of the times that the good people suffer while the hoodlum element runs at large," said a letter with checks of $50 and $10 enclosed. "In some way we have to turn the tables and add strength to the cause of law and order."

"Mr. Sansoucie was a hero. He saw a crime in progress and tried to do something about it, a rarity today," wrote another.

Sansoucie had been driving with his wife and three of their children when he saw the purse snatcher grapple with Mrs. Madge Robinson.

Sansoucie braked, jumped from the car and chased the man around a corner. Minutes later two men ran to Ruth Sansoucie and asked, "Are you Ruth? A man has been shot down the street and he's asking for Ruth."

"I love you," Sansoucie told her. These were his last words.

Letters and donations started coming that weekend after the grand jury association announced it had started the fund. In the first week they had come from 22 states.

A professor of English from Ames, Iowa, pointed up the irony of Sansoucie's name and deed.

"Coincidence plays a great part in our human affairs, but I am struck by the ironic fact that Mr. Sansoucie's name, in French, sans-souci, means 'easy-going,' 'without a care in the world.' A man who would stop his car to aid someone in distress seems to me to elevate the irea of sans-souci almost to sainthood."

One letter contrasted Sansoucie's act with the case of Kitty Genovese, the 28-year-old woman attacked three times by the same man in New York one night in 1964. Thirty-eight people watched without acting while the man took a half-hour to kill the woman.

None of those 38 people had died trying to help. Sansoucie had.

"You can't blame others for not wanting to help for fear of their lives," an 80-year-old woman wrote in a letter accompanying her $5 check.

But another said, "Thank you for giving us a hero in a day of cowards."

And another said Sansoucie's sacrifice proved two things. One of them was, "It does not pay to become involved and this makes me very sorry."

Many letters expressed frustration about what one writer described as our laws which give "every advantage to the criminal."

"It is disturbing to me, as I am sure it is to others, that we can no longer feel safe on the streets or in our homes. I feel, however," another wrote, "that there is no chance for this to improve until power is restored to our police and law enforcing bodies."

While five elderly ladies, members of the grand jury association, sorted the letters and counted up the money, a St. Louis police officer stood watch.

The officer spoke more about people's actions than the laws' limitations.

"I think the man (Sansoucie) went further than you can expect even the best citizen to," he said. "He did everything he should have done when he chased the man away. It should have ended right there. That's where the police come in.

"He did everything you could expect of him and more. But I get paid to take the chances. It's my job. Let's face it, even if they collect $5 million, those four kids are still without a father.

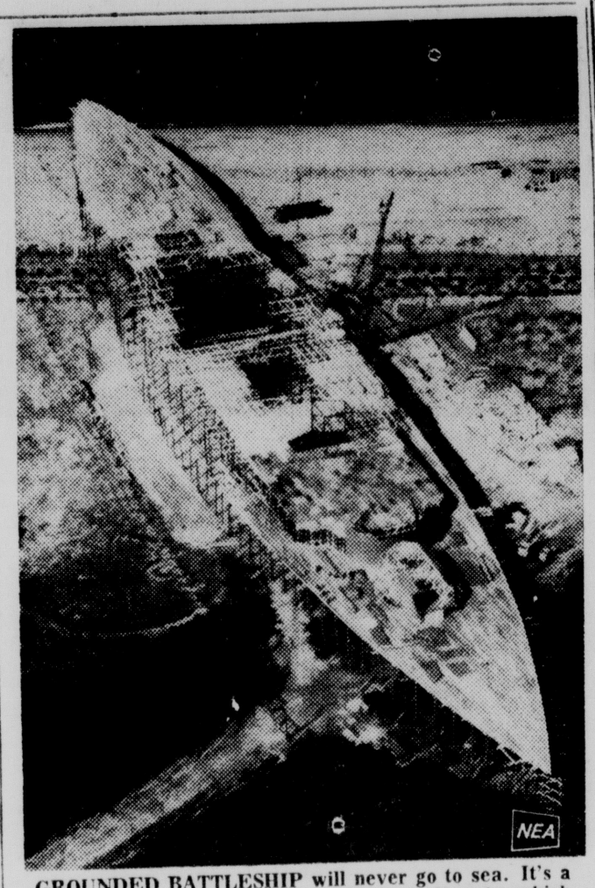

"But on the other hand," the officer said with a shrug, "you get the people who won't even stop to call police when they drive by. They just don't want to get involved in any way.

"The victim themselves are sometimes our biggest headaches. They don't want to make all those court appearances, or they're scared of retribution.

"I don't know," he said, "I really don't know what you can do. I can't really blame them."

One letter came from Portland, Ore. "I think I should say that this contribution is the first of its kind for me," the man wrote. "It is rare for me to be moved to make one. In this instance, though, it is important to me that I take a personal stand in support of a man who had the courage to care about his fellow citizens and their safety.

"One hears a great deal about crime on the streets in this country, but most of the answers physically offered omit mention of the point of view which Mr. Sansoucie so eloquently expressed. I would submit that his point of view, if widely accepted, will do more to combat street crime than all the congressional legislation imaginable."

GROUNDED BATTLESHIP will never go to sea. It's a replica of the old Japanese battlewagon, Nagato, which is being constructed on a beach in Japan for use in a movie covering events leading up to the Pearl Harbor attack on Dec. 7, 1941. The ship has been designed so that it's surrounded by water when viewed through the camera at ground level.

3,000 Copies Available

Color-Keyed Map Details City's Development Goals

Planning coordinator Don Eckert has received for distribution to residents and civic organizations 3,000 copies of a color-keyed map which explains the long - range goals in East Liverpool's development plan.

The map uses various symbols and colors to show new facilities envisioned in the plan—establishment of new parks and recreation areas, for instance, and reclamation of riverfront land for industrial sites.

The map points out areas in East End recommended for development as sites for light and heavy industry and pinpoints the site of a proposed marina in the Klondyke area and a "neighborhood park" in West End near Westgate School.

It also points out areas along Route 170 in the Substation area recommended for use as light industrial plant sites and "office estates." The color code shows the proposed sites are located close to the Route 170 interchange of the Freeway. A stretch along Route 170 north of Calcutta also is pinpointed as a possible light industrial site.

The 22-by-16-inch map was produced by the professional planning concern of Carroll V. Hill & Associates under its contract for preparation of a master plan for growth and development of the city and area. Eckert said it is designed as an educational tool to acquaint the public with the major goals in the planning program.

Copies of the brochure already have been distributed to members of the Lions Club and more are due to be presented to the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs. Copies will be made available for the public to pick up in banks, the Carnegie Public Library and the Chamber of Commerce office.

Eckert said individuals or organizations seeking copies may contact him at his office in City Hall.

The brochure is called "A guide for Future Development." It includes an aerial photo of the downtown area and pictures of modern homes, a park, an industrial plant, a freeway interchange and river and rail transportation.

Judge Declares Salem Tax Void

LISBON — A 5-10ths of a mill levy Salem voters renewed Nov. 7, 1967, for city parks is invalid and no taxes may be collected under it, Judge Joel H. Sharp of Salem ruled Friday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

The levy in question was the renewal of an existing levy for the acquisition, construction, maintenance and operation of parks which runs until 1971, whereas it should have been the renewal of a 1962 "recreational purposes" levy of 1-10ths of a mill which ran out last year, the ruling stated in brief.

The park commission in Salem asked the court for a declaratory judgment after the County Budget Commission said it could not legally put the tax on the duplicate since the city already has a 5-10ths of a mill tax for park purposes. The budget commission says the code limits taxes for recreational purposes to 5-10ths of a mill. In its answer to the park commission case, the budget commission joined in the request that the court determine the legality of the levies.

Man's Act Of Heroism Triggers Fund Campaign

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If Raymond Sancoucie had been true to his name, he wouldn't have taken up that chase last New Year's Eve.

Sansoucie is French for "without care." Raymond Sansoucie cared, pursued a youthful purse snatcher and was shot to death — over $6 the thief had taken from a 61-year-old widow.

Sansoucie, a father of four whose widow is expecting a fifth child, died in his wife's arms. Now his act of heroism has triggerel a campaign by the St. Louis Grand Jury Association to raise funds for his family.

Within seven days, the fund billowed to nearly $50,000. And there were the letters. Many correspondents wondered if Sansoucie's blood should be on the American conscience.

"It is a sign of the times that the good people suffer while the hoodlum element runs at large," said a letter with checks of $50 and $10 enclosed. "In some way we have to turn the tables and add strength to the cause of law and order."

"Mr. Sansoucie was a hero. He saw a crime in progress and tried to do something about it, a rarity today," wrote another.

Sansoucie had been driving with his wife and three of their children when he saw the purse snatcher grapple with Mrs. Madge Robinson.

Sansoucie braked, jumped from the car and chased the man around a corner. Minutes later two men ran to Ruth Sansoucie and asked, "Are you Ruth? A man has been shot down the street and he's asking for Ruth."

"I love you," Sansoucie told her. These were his last words.

Letters and donations started coming that weekend after the grand jury association announced it had started the fund. In the first week they had come from 22 states.

A professor of English from Ames, Iowa, pointed up the irony of Sansoucie's name and deed.

"Coincidence plays a great part in our human affairs, but I am struck by the ironic fact that Mr. Sansoucie's name, in French, sans-souci, means 'easy-going,' 'without a care in the world.' A man who would stop his car to aid someone in distress seems to me to elevate the irea of sans-souci almost to sainthood."

One letter contrasted Sansoucie's act with the case of Kitty Genovese, the 28-year-old woman attacked three times by the same man in New York one night in 1964. Thirty-eight people watched without acting while the man took a half-hour to kill the woman.

None of those 38 people had died trying to help, Sansoucie had.

"You can't blame others for not wanting to help for fear of their lives," an 80-year-old woman wrote in a letter accompanying her $5 check.

But another said, "Thank you for giving us a hero in a day of cowards."

And another said Sansoucie's sacrifice proved two things. One of them was, "It does not pay to become involved and this makes me very sorry."

Many letters expressed frustration about what one writer described as our laws which give "every advantage to the criminal."

"It is disturbing to me, as I am sure it is to others, that we can no longer feel safe on the streets or in our homes. I feel, however," another wrote, "that there is no chance for this to improve until power is restored to our police and law enforcing bodies."

The officer spoke more about people's actions than the laws' limitations.

"I think the man (Sansoucie) went further than you can expect even the best citizen to," he said. "He did everything he should have done when he chased the man away. It should have ended right there. That's where the police come in.

"He did everything you could expect of him and more. But I get paid to take the chances. It's my job. Let's face it, even if they collect $5 million, those four kids are still without a father.

"But on the other hand," the officer said with a shrug, "you get the people who won't even stop to call police when they drive by. They just don't want to get involved in any way.

"The victim themselves are sometimes our biggest headaches. They don't want to make all those court appearances, or they're scared of retribution.

"I don't know," he said, "I really don't know what you can do. I can't really blame them."

One letter came from Portland, Ore. "I think I should say that this contribution is the first of its kind for me," the man wrote. "It is rare for me to be moved to make one. In this instance, though, it is important to me that I take a personal stand in support of a man who had the courage to care about his fellow citizens and their safety.

"One hears a great deal about crime on the streets in this country, but most of the answers physically offered omit mention of the point of view which Mr. Sansoucie so eloquently expressed. I would submit that his point of view, if widely accepted, will do more to combat street crime than all the congressional legislation imaginable."

GROUNDED BATTLESHIP will never go to sea. It's a replica of the old Japanese battlewagon, Nagato, which is being constructed on a beach in Japan for use in a movie covering events leading up to the Pearl Harbor attack on Dec. 7, 1941. The ship has been designed so that it's surrounded by water when viewed through the camera at ground level.

3,000 Copies Available

Color-Keyed Map Details City's Development Goals

Planning coordinator Don Eckert has received for distribution to residents and civic organizations 3,000 copies of a color-keyed map which explains the long - range goals in East Liverpool's development plan.

The map uses various symbols and colors to show new facilities envisioned in the plan—establishment of new parks and recreation areas, for instance, and reclamation of riverfront land for industrial sites.

The map points out areas in East End recommended for development as sites for light and heavy industry and pinpoints the site of a proposed marina in the Klondyke area and a "neighborhood park" in West End near Westgate School.

It also points out areas along Route 170 in the Substation area recommended for use as light industrial plant sites and "office estates." The color code shows the proposed sites are located close to the Route 170 interchange of the Freeway. A stretch along Route 170 north of Calcutta also is pinpointed as a possible light industrial site.

The 22-by-16-inch map was produced by the professional planning concern of Carroll V. Hill & Associates under its contract for preparation of a master plan for growth and development of the city and area. Eckert said it is designed as an educational tool to acquaint the public with the major goals in the planning program.

Copies of the brochure already have been distributed to members of the Lions Club and more are due to be presented to the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs. Copies will be made available for the public to pick up in banks, the Carnegie Public Library and the Chamber of Commerce office.

Eckert said individuals or organizations seeking copies may contact him at his office in City Hall.

The brochure is called "A guide for Future Development." It includes an aerial photo of the downtown area and pictures of modern homes, a park, an industrial plant, a freeway interchange and river and rail transportation.

Judge Declares Salem Tax Void

LISBON — A 5-10ths of a mill levy Salem voters renewed Nov. 7, 1967, for city parks is invalid and no taxes may be collected under it, Judge Joel H. Sharp of Salem ruled Friday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon.

The levy in question was the renewal of an existing levy for the acquisition, construction, maintenance and operation of parks which runs until 1971, whereas it should have been the renewal of a 1962 "recreational purposes" levy of 1-10ths of a mill which ran out last year, the ruling stated in brief.

The park commission in Salem asked the court for a declaratory judgment after the County Budget Commission said it could not legally put the tax on the duplicate since the city already has a 5-10ths of a mill tax for park purposes. The budget commission says the code limits taxes for recreational purposes to 5-10ths of a mill. In its answer to the park commission case, the budget commission joined in the request that the court determine the legality of the levies.

Charge Filed For Robbery

Detective bureau officers filed charges Friday in Juvenile Court at Lisbon against a 17-year-old district youth wanted for the latest in a series of armed robberies at an East Liverpool service station.

Officers were unable to serve a warrant immediately on the suspect wanted for the robbery early Thursday at the Humble Oil Co. station at E. 3rd St. and Broadway in which Otto Davis, 18, of E. 3rd St., an attendant, was menaced with a knife, robbed of $62 and then sprayed with tear gas. Police said the suspect apparently has left home and could not be located yesterday.

Det. Capt. Kenneth Mooney and Det. William A. Devon, who filed the affidavit, said the charge was filed "on information received and as a result of an investigation."

They said the suspect will be referred to Juvenile Court when he is apprehended.

The robbery was the third for which Davis was present and the second in which he was menaced and relieved of cash. He quit the job Thursday after the latest robbery and told police he would look for a job "in a quieter place."

Charges have been filed in two of the three station holdups and also in a robbery at a diner a short distance away that took place within two hours of the first stickup of the station Dec. 22.

An East Liverpool man and a Detroit man are in jail awaiting a preliminary hearing on charges they were involved in a stick-up at the station Dec. 30 in which $92 was taken from Davis at gunpoint.

An 18-year-old Newell youth was held for Grand Jury action Wednesday, charged with a $75 armed robbery early the morning of Dec. 23 at the Midway Diner on the River Rd.—about two blocks from the station.

Carbon monoxide is so deadly because it combines with the hemoglobin of the blood and prevents the latter from carrying oxygen to the tissues.

Colleagues Still Buzz About McCarthy Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ah, the mysterious McCarthy! Knowing full well that he had his choice of any committee in the U. S. Senate, the senior senator from Minnesota predictably chose the unpredictable.

Eugene J. McCarthy's bewildered colleagues were still buzzing about his astonishing decision on Thursday to relinquish his seat on the prestigious Foreign Relations Committee, when the senator selected his new committee Friday.

To the astonishment of his fellows, Democrat McCarthy announced that he had chosen the Government Operations Committee, a panel distinctly of the second rank when compared to the status symbols of senatorial power—Appropriations, Finance or Armed Services.

After giving up the Foreign Relations Post, McCarthy told newsmen, by way of explanation, that he now could have his choice of any committee assignment. "I agree," commented Majority Leader Mike Mansfield.

Pressed Friday to explain why he bypassed committees avidly pursued by senators seeking to enhance their influence and power, McCarthy noted that Government Operations spends its time investigating the Executive Branch. His decision, he said, was an "application of McLuhan's theory that operations is policy."

Still, it seemed a curious choice for a leading critic of the Vietnam war. The chairman of Government Operations, John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has demonstrated considerably less interest in that conflict than in the war on poverty, which he examined in detail last year at the head of a special investigating subcommittee.

After McCarthy lost the Democratic presidential nomination to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, he assured his followers that he would continue to oppose the war, using his seat on Foreign Relations as a forum for the views that had attracted them to his banner.

McCarthy not only gave up this prized place, but handed it to Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., a staunch and outspoken defender of the war. He did so after the committee membership was cut from 19 to 15, which would have prevented the junior McGee from claiming the seat he had lost in 1966 when Republican elections gains gave them an added spot on the committee.

U.S. Deserter, Hijacker Home From Cuban Exile

MIAMI (AP) - "I know I will have to go to jail. But my only hope now is to insure my daughter's future."

Willis Jessie, 27, a U.S. Army deserter and hijacker of a private plane said that's why he returned voluntarily to American soil Friday night after five months in Cuba.

"We had no future in Cuba," he told newsmen.

Jessie carried blonde, blue-eyed Patricia Sue, 2, as he stepped off an airliner from Mexico City. He was arrested immediately by three FBI agents who whisked him quickly through customs.

Jessie's former wife, Mary Jane, was at the airport for a tearful reunion with Patricia Sue, whom she had not seen since Jessie took her from her home in Holden, W.Va., last July. The Jessies were divorced in 1967.

The girl's mother reported that at first the girl did not recognize her, but that they became reacquainted in a Miami hotel. In the closet hung a new green dress which Mrs. Jessie had bought for her daughter.

She reported that Patricia Sue spoke a "kind of babyish Spanish" after living most of the time in Havana with a Cuban family.

Mrs. Jessie said her former husband lived in a prison camp in Havana.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Jan 11, the 11th day of 1969. There are 354 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1943, during World War II, the United States and Britain relinquished extra-teritorial rights in China.

In 1569, the first lottery in Engand was drawn in St. Paul's Cathedreal under patronage of Queen Elizabeth I.

In 1757, the American statesman and first secretary of the treasury, Alexander Hamilton, was born in the West Indies.

In 1785, the Continental Congress convened in New York.

In 1788, pioneers set out from Hartford, Conn. to settle Ohio.

In 1942, Japanese invaders were moving into the Dutch East Indies early in the Pacific war.

In 1945, a truce was reached in the Greek civil war.

Ten years ago: The United States, Britain and West Germany rejected a Soviet proposal for a 28-nation conference to negotiate a German peace treaty.

Five years ago: The U. S. government released a report that cigarette smoking is a definite health hazard.

Junior Editors Quiz on ECHO

QUESTION: What is an echo, and can it be only heard in the mountains?

• • •

ANSWER: Sound waves are vibrations in the air, which cause us to hear sounds when they reach the delicate mechanism inside our ears. When such waves strike some surface which is more dense than the surrounding air, they are bounced backwards and may reach our ears as an echo, or repetition of the original sound. If the echo comes from a surface quite close to us we will not hear it. That's because it comes so close to the first sound that our ears cannot distinguish between the two. Echos may come from large buildings, but the conditions which produce them are more likely to be found if one shouts towards some big cliff as Ed is doing in the picture. The word echo comes from the mythical story of the Greek nymph Echo who was in love with Narcissus, son of the river god. Spurned by Narcissus, poor Echo pined away until there was nothing left but her echoing voice. The gods were angered by Narcissus and condemned him to gaze at his handsome face in the river for such a long time that he passed away.

The DOCTOR Says

Hydrocele Cause Is Undetermined

Q — My doctor says I have a hydrocele. He tapped it three times but it always comes back. What can be done for it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — A hydrocele is an accumulation of lymph in the scrotal sac. In most cases, the cause is unknown. After simple tapping the fluid almost always comes back. A more effective treatment is tapping followed by the injection of a sclerosing fluid — an agent that causes the walls of the sac to adhere to the testicles or an operation that destroys the secreting surface of the sac.

Q—The left portion of my scrotal sac is much larger than the right and feels like a bag of worms. What causes this and what is the best treatment?

A—You have a varicocele—varicose veins in your scrotum. It is caused by an obstruction from the sac. The cause of the obstruction may be a tumor, in which case it should be removed. In most cases, however, the cause is unknown. Since the condition is harmless, no treatment is needed or advisable. The results of attempts at surgical correction have been unsatisfactory.

Q—I am 60 and have always had good health. Now my doctor says I have epididymitis. Is it contagious? How did I get it? Can it be cured?

A — This is an inflammation of the epididymis which is a part of the testicle. It is not contagious although it may be caused by such communicable diseases as mumps, gonorrhea and tuberculosis or by an injury. The treatment would depend on the cause.

Q—My son, 16, is well-developed except that his penis is about the size of an 8-year-old's. Our doctor says that when he is 19 he will be O.K. Can't anything be done for him now? The boys at school make fun of him, all the time.

A—The teasing of a boy by his classmates can be very cruel. Barring a rare hormonal imbalance, which your doctor would have noted and corrected, there is no effective treatment for this condition. Some boys' external genitals develop more slowly than others. But, as your doctor has told you, this will be no handicap to your son as an adult.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Police Hunt For Gun In Steele Death Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police concentrated today on searching for the gun used to kill Mrs. Marlene Steele, wife of Euclid Municipal Judge Robert L. Steele, and mother of two young sons.

"There is no search under way for any particular suspect," Euclid Police Chief Frank W. Payne said. "We have no suspects."

Mrs. Steele, 37, was found dead in her bed of two bullet wounds about 1 a.m. Thursday by her husband who said he was in the upstairs of the home when he heard several "pops".

Fingerprints found in the house were being studied late Friday, and clothing worn by the judge the night of the slaying was impounded.

Judge Steele said he would take a lie detector test if requested.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Reshaping Tight Shoes

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: Since square toed shoes are the fashion and they do hurt that big toe (I have yet to find a customer who doesn't complain about them-, thought I would let your housewives in on a little secret that we use in our shoe store to relieve the pressure.

Heloise

We take a small hammer with a wooden handle and gently twist the butt end of the handle down into the portion of the toe where the big toe is and leave it a while.

This only takes GENTLE PRESSURE. Be very careful when doing this to cloth shoes, as some stretch quickly.

Well, beless my soul! It worked for me.

Roger, how in this wide, wide world did you know my two big toes hurt so? Just think of the tootsies that are gonna feel good now. And this just goes to show what a woman won't do to be in style!

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: We've had trouble keeping the comforter on our bed for some time. It's a beautiful, new comforter, light as a feather and warm as toast. But it was on the floor about half the night!

It suddenly dawned on me that if they clip baby covers on a baby bed, not not clip my comforter on? So . . . with two plastic, pinch-type clothespins, I fastened each side of the comforter to the blanket or sheet underneath.

No more trouble and it stays put all night.

MRS. A.M.G.

DEAR HELOISE: During my years as a military wife, I latched onto this helpful hint. When my husband had new fatigues, I used a marker and placed a number inside the waistband on the pants and a corresponding number under the lower button hole on the shirttail. It was easy to match shirts and pants, and I didn't end up with two shades of olive drab, caused by wearing one item more than the other.

Papa always matched!

Now as a civilian he still has numbered working outfits!

DOTTIE.

DEAR HELOISE: I make a practice of saving all the beautiful advertisements sent out by book publishers, especially those from travel and encyclopedia companies.

The illustrations are very useful for schooltime projects, and story folders.

MRS. H. DOWNS.

DEAR HELOISE: When I burn something in a stainless steel pan I put bleach in it and let set overnight. Sure removes the burns.

MRS. A.Z.

Don't do this. NEVER, NEVER, NEVER. . . .

We have eight different brands of stainless steel in our kitchen and it ruined everyone of them!

It literally eats tiny little holes in the pan, thus causing rust to form. It ate BIG holes in several brands.

The stainless steel manufacturers say only a few minutes is OK — and we have not found this to harm it — but soaking did. Our pans are ruined.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: During the summer most people use their fertilizer spreader maybe three or four times, then store it. But why not keep it handy during the winter?

After scraping the snow off the sidewalks there is usually a thin layer of ice which can be quite dangerous. We take that good spreader and fill it with salt. Set it at its finest setting and go merrily over the sidewalk.

The DOCTOR Says

Hydrocele Cause Is Undetermined

Q — My doctor says I have a hydrocele. He tapped it three times but it always comes back. What can be done for it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — A hydrocele is an accumulation of lymph in the scrotal sac. In most cases, the cause is unknown. After simple tapping the fluid almost always comes back. A more effective treatment is tapping followed by the injection of a sclerosing fluid — an agent that causes the walls of the sac to adhere to the testicles or an operation that destroys the secreting surface of the sac.

Q—The left portion of my scrotal sac is much larger than the right and feels like a bag of worms. What causes this and what is the best treatment?

A—You have a varicocele—varicose veins in your scrotum. It is caused by an obstruction from the sac. The cause of the obstruction may be a tumor, in which case it should be removed. In most cases, however, the cause is unknown. Since the condition is harmless, no treatment is needed or advisable. The results of attempts at surgical correction have been unsatisfactory.

Q—I am 60 and have always had good health. Now my doctor says I have epididymitis. Is it contagious? How did I get it? Can it be cured?

A — This is an inflammation of the epididymis which is a part of the testicle. It is not contagious although it may be caused by such communicable diseases as mumps, gonorrhea and tuberculosis or by an injury. The treatment would depend on the cause.

Q—My son, 16, is well-developed except that his penis is about the size of an 8-year-old's. Our doctor says that when he is 19 he will be O.K. Can't anything be done for him now? The boys at school make fun of him, all the time.

A—The teasing of a boy by his classmates can be very cruel. Barring a rare hormonal imbalance, which your doctor would have noted and corrected, there is no effective treatment for this condition. Some boys' external genitals develop more slowly than others. But, as your doctor has told you, this will be no handicap to your son as an adult.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Police Hunt For Gun In Steele Death Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police concentrated today on searching for the gun used to kill Mrs. Marlene Steele, wife of Euclid Municipal Judge Robert L. Steele, and mother of two young sons.

"There is no search under way for any particular suspect," Euclid Police Chief Frank W. Payne said. "We have no suspects."

Mrs. Steele, 37, was found dead in her bed of two bullet wounds about 1 a.m. Thursday by her husband who said he was in the upstairs of the home when he heard several "pops".

Fingerprints found in the house were being studied late Friday, and clothing worn by the judge the night of the slaying was impounded.

Judge Steele said he would take a lie detector test if requested.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Reshaping Tight Shoes

By HELOISE CRUSE

DEAR HELOISE: Since square toed shoes are the fashion and they do hurt that big toe (I have yet to find a customer who doesn't complain about them-, thought I would let your housewives in on a little secret that we use in our shoe store to relieve the pressure.

Heloise

We take a small hammer with a wooden handle and gently twist the butt end of the handle down into the portion of the toe where the big toe is and leave it a while.

This only takes GENTLE PRESSURE. Be very careful when doing this to cloth shoes, as some stretch quickly.

Well, beless my soul! It worked for me.
